AN ACT

To resolve the 107th meridian boundary dispute between the Crow Indian Tribe and the United States.

1       Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2       tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3       SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4       This Act may be cited as the “Crow Boundary Settle-5       ment Act of 1994”.

6       SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

7       (a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

1           (1) Under the treaty between the United States
2 of America and the Crow Tribe of Indians concluded
3 May 7, 1868 (commonly known as the “Fort Laramie
4 Treaty of 1868”; 15 Stat. 649), the eastern
5 boundary of the Crow Indian Reservation was estab-
6 lished as the 107th meridian for approximately 90
7 miles from the Yellowstone River to the boundary
8 between Montana and Wyoming.

9           (2) Under Executive orders issued in 1884 and 10 1900, the western boundary of the Northern Chey-
11 enne Reservation was established as the 107th me-12 ridian. The 107th meridian was intended to be the 13 common boundary between the Crow Reservation
14 and Northern Cheyenne Reservation for approxi-
15 mately 25 miles.

16           (3) From 1889 through 1891, a survey was 17 conducted of the eastern boundary of the Crow Res-
18 ervation. The 1891 survey line strayed to the west, 19 and resulted in the exclusion from the Crow Indian 20 Reservation of a strip of land of approximately 21 36,164 acres. Approximately 12,964 acres of such 22 strip of land were included in the Northern Chey-
23 enne Reservation. Deposits of low sulphur coal un-
24 derlie the land excluded from the Crow Indian Res-

1       ervation, including the land included in the Northern 2       Cheyenne Indian Reservation.

3           (4)(A) The erroneous nature of the survey was 4       not discovered for several decades. Meanwhile, the 5       areas along the 107th meridian to the north and 6       south of the Northern Cheyenne Indian Reservation
7       were opened to settlement in the late nineteenth cen-
8       tury and early part of the twentieth century. Patents
9       were issued to non-Indian persons and to the State
10      of Montana for most of the surface land and a sig-
11      nificant portion of the minerals in these areas be-12      tween the 107th meridian and the 1891 survey line.

13           (B) The 12,964 acres included in the Northern 14      Cheyenne Reservation have been treated as part of 15      the Northern Cheyenne Reservation and occupied by 16      the Northern Cheyenne Tribe and the Northern 17      Cheyenne allottees, and their successors in interest.

18           (5) Legislation to resolve the 107th meridian
19      boundary dispute was introduced in Congress in the 20      1960's and 1970's, and again in 1992, but no such 21      legislation was enacted into law.

22           (b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this Act is to settle
23      the 107th meridian boundary dispute created by the erro-
24      neous survey of the eastern boundary of the Crow Indian
