4 COMMUNITIES.

5 (a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

6 (1) Engaging in service-learning and commu-

1 uals more likely to continue to volunteer and engage 2 in service throughout their lives.

3 (2) High-quality service-learning programs keep 4 students engaged in school and increase the likeli-
5 hood that they will graduate.

6 (3) Since its creation, the Learn and Serve
7 America program has allowed over 15,000,000 stu-
8 dents to take part in service-learning activities to 9 improve their communities and schools.

10 (4) Most schools do not offer service-learning
11 activities, but many students, particularly students
12 at risk of dropping out, express an interest in serv-
13 ice-learning.

14 (b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this section are—

15 (1) to provide increased high-quality service-
16 learning opportunities for in-school and out-of-school
17 youth in high-need, low-income communities as a 18 strategy to retain and re-engage youth likely to drop 19 out and youth who have dropped out;

20 (2) to encourage more individuals to engage in 21 lifetimes of service by teaching young people the 22 value of service early in their lives; and

23 (3) to establish youth engagement zones with 24 the goal of involving all secondary school students
25 served by a local educational agency in service-learn-

1 ing to solve a specific community challenge, through 2 a program that can serve as a model for other com-
 3 munities.

4 (c) GENERAL AUTHORITY.—Part I of subtitle B of 5 title I of the National and Community Service Act of 1990
 6 (42 U.S.C. 12521 et seq.) is amended—

10 in using work-study funds for community service

15 service has remained relatively constant for the past 16 few years.

17 (3) The public service sector, including non-
