

AMENDMENTS TO THE EXPORT APPLE AND PEAR ACT

MARCH 2, 1999.—Committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union and ordered to be printed

Mr. COMBEST, from the Committee on Agriculture, submitted the following

REPORT

[To accompany H.R. 609]

[Including cost estimate of the Congressional Budget Office]

The Committee on Agriculture, to whom was referred the bill (H.R. 609) to amend the Export Apple and Pear Act to limit the applicability of the Act to apples, having considered the same, report favorably thereon without amendment and recommend that the bill do pass.

BRIEF EXPLANATION

H.R. 609 amends the Export Apple and Pear Act of June 10, 1933, to limit the applicability of the Act to apples and renames the law, the “Export Apple Act”. The bill removes “pears” from the definition and removes all other references to “pears” from the Act.

PURPOSE AND NEED

The Export Apple and Pear Act, enacted on June 10, 1933, requires that apples and pears meet certain standards prior to export in order to ensure only high quality U.S. fruit moves in foreign commerce. H.R. 609 amends that Act and thereby provides the means to increase exports of pears.

Pears exported from the United States are grown almost exclusively in Oregon, California and Washington and the pear organizations in these states support this bill. U.S. pear producers and shippers recommended that pears be dropped from the Act so that they can increase the volume of pear exports.

H.R. 609 eliminates pears from the Act, thereby allowing U.S. exporters greater flexibility in the changing international marketplace and the opportunity to increase exports. Because of the 1933

Act, U.S. producers and exporters of pears have been unable to meet the demand for lower grade pears in countries without receiving a waiver from the Act from the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). The pear industry on two occasions over the last decade petitioned and received a waiver from USDA to sell non-U.S. Number One and Fancy grade winter pears in the emerging markets of Central and South America and Russia. Past experience indicates that when these markets can afford it, they buy higher-grade pears. Removal of pears from the Act will allow U.S. producers to get a foothold in emerging markets.

The USDA has advised the Committee that mandatory federal quality standards for pears are no longer needed to assure the high quality of exported pears. The USDA supports enactment of H.R. 609.

As world economies improve and barriers to trade continue to decrease, new market opportunities for fresh pears arise. In order to provide the flexibility to meet the requirements of these new opportunities without having to seek new exemptions, pears are removed from the 1933 Export Apple and Pear Act.

SECTION-BY-SECTION

Subsection (a) renames the Act of June 10, 1933 (7 U.S.C. 581 et seq.; commonly known as the Export Apple and Pear Act), as the "Export Apple Act."

Subsection (b) removes "pears" from the definition.

Subsection (c) removes all other references to "pears" from the Act.

COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION

The Committee on Agriculture met, pursuant to notice and with a quorum present, on February 10, 1999, to consider H.R. 609 and other pending business. Chairman Combest recognized Mr. Walden, author of the bill for a brief explanation.

Discussion occurred and it was noted by Chairman Combest that the Secretary of Agriculture sent a letter in support of the bill.

Mr. Stenholm was then recognized and expressed his support for the bill.

After a brief discussion on the bill, Mr. Stenholm moved that the bill, H.R. 609, be adopted and favorably reported to the House with a recommendation that it do pass. Mr. Stenholm's motion was agreed to by a voice vote of the Committee with a majority quorum being present.

The meeting was then adjourned, subject to the call of the Chair.

REPORTING THE BILL—ROLLCALL VOTES

In compliance with clause 3(b) of rule XIII of the House of Representatives, H.R. 609 was reported by voice vote with a majority quorum present. There was no request for a recorded vote.

ADMINISTRATION POSITION

The views of the Administration on H.R. 609 are set forth in the following letter to the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture:

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY,
Washington, DC, February 9, 1999.

Hon. LARRY COMBEST,
*Chairman, Committee on Agriculture,
House of Representatives, Washington, DC.*

DEAR LARRY: The Department of Agriculture (USDA) supports H.R. 609, a bill "To amend the Export Apple and Pear Act (Act) to limit the applicability of the Act to apples".

Because private contractual arrangements between buyers and sellers increasingly are controlling the quality of U.S. pear exports, USDA believes mandatory Federal quality standards, as currently established under the Act, are no longer needed to assure the high quality of exported pears. The Act is further outdated because its regulations do not reflect seasonal changes in the quality of the U.S. pear crop and do not provide the flexibility needed in the changing international market. USDA believes the U.S. pear industry needs greater flexibility than the Act allows to respond to international markets, a goal that H.R. 609 will help the industry attain.

Minimum requirements would continue under existing State regulations if H.R. 609 is enacted. For example, Washington regulates minimum grade requirements and both Oregon and California have minimum requirements for maturity and grade defects. In addition, two Federal marketing orders for pears produced in Oregon and Washington offer the opportunity for pear producers and handlers to establish minimum requirements for pear exports.

Enactment of H.R. 609 would not result in increased USDA outlays.

The Office of Management and Budget advises that there is no objection to the presentation of this report from the standpoint of the Administration's program.

Sincerely,

DAN GLICKMAN, Secretary.

BUDGET ACT COMPLIANCE (SECTIONS 308, 402, AND 423)

The estimate and comparison required to be prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office under clause 3(c)(3) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and sections 402 and 423 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 submitted to the Committee prior to the filing of this report are as follows:

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

H.R. 609—A bill to amend the Export Apple and Pear Act to limit the applicability of the act to apples

H.R. 609 would amend the Export Apple and Pear Act to exclude pears and rename it the Export Apple Act. CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 609 would have no significant budgetary impact.

Under current law, the Secretary of Agriculture must establish quality standards for exported apples and pears. The Secretary also is responsible for overseeing mandatory inspections and certification of apples and pears prior to export. Under H.R. 609, these requirements would no longer apply to pears but would continue for apples.

The Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture is responsible for carrying out current requirements. States collect inspection and certification fees from exporters and pay a small percentage of the fees to AMS for overseeing inspections. AMS indicates that collections of fees for pear inspections are small. While H.R. 609 would stop mandatory federal inspections of pears for exports, it is likely that voluntary federal inspections and mandatory or voluntary state inspections would continue. The costs incurred and fees collected by AMS would probably not change significantly. Because H.R. 609 could affect direct spending, pay-as-you-go procedures would apply, but CBO estimates that any such impact would be negligible for each year.

H.R. 609 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would have no significant impact on the budgets of state, local, or tribal governments.

The CBO staff contact is Craig Jagger. This estimate was approved by Robert A. Sunshine, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.
