Notice of Intent to Repatriate a Cultural Item in the Possession of the Navajo Nation Museum, Window Rock, Arizona

AGENCY: National Park Service, Interior

ACTION: Notice

Notice is hereby given under the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act of 1990 of the intent to repatriate a cultural item in the possession of the Navajo Nation Museum, Window Rock, AZ, that meets the definitions of "sacred object" and "object of cultural patrimony" under section 2 of the act.

On November 16, 1993, the Navajo Nation Museum sent summary information on their collections to the Oneida Tribe of Indians of Wisconsin. In response to this information, representatives of the Oneida Tribe of Indians of Wisconsin visited the Navajo Nation Museum in October, 1994, identified a carved wooden mask as being a sacred object and an object of cultural patrimony, and requested its repatriation.

The carved wooden mask is approximately life size. The nose of the mask is twisted at an angle. The eye sockets are lined with copper sheeting. Two pieces of horse tail are nailed to the top of the mask so that the hair falls on either side of the face. The surface of the mask is painted red. A buckskin loop is nailed to the top for hanging the mask. Museum records indicate that the mask was ordered from White Deer Indian Traders of Stevens Point, Wisconsin, in 1961.

Representatives of the Oneida Tribe of Indians of Wisconsin have identified this item as a medicine or false face mask. Such masks represent the power of particular medicine beings. This
