

maternal alcohol and other drug use/abuse and the resulting complications experienced by this population. When women do seek treatment they often face strained substance abuse treatment agencies that lack the capacity, financial resources, or appropriate family-centered approaches to effectively meet the multiple treatment needs of women and their children. Few treatment agencies have the capability to provide all services required to meet the needs of this population, such as treatment for critical health and mental health problems and injuries resulting from histories of physical and sexual abuse; child care and development; parenting skills development; and child abuse and neglect prevention. Both residential and outpatient treatment services specifically designed for women are necessary to ensure that the full range of services is available. This is necessary because the needs and circumstances of clients can vary considerably. Some women are unwilling or unable to enter residential treatment; outpatient treatment is therefore the most appropriate option for them. Some residential programs have a combination of residential and outpatient care designed as part of their treatment approach, and for some programs, outpatient services are available as part of required or voluntary continuing care.

CODAC has offered substance abuse treatment, prevention and general mental health services in Pima County for 25 years, during which time it has become a nationally-known center for provision of residential and outpatient substance abuse treatment services for women and their children. CODAC targets women in the criminal justice system, ethnic minority women, and low-income women, all high-risk groups according to the Office of National Drug Control Policy. The majority of women served by CODAC are between 19 and 24 years of age, approximately 2% are African American, 30% Latino, 60% Caucasian, 1% Native American and 7% other (including multiracial).

CODAC has also initiated comprehensive residential treatment and prevention services to substance abusing mothers and their infants, under Section 508 of the Public Health Services Act, CSAT's Services Grant Program for Pregnant and Postpartum Women (PPW). The residential services are complemented by outpatient case management and treatment referral services funded by the Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP) since 1990. The CSAP project (Comprehensive Assistance to Mothers & Infants Outpatient Program Expansion—CAMI) comprises a wide range of services, including ensuring that the women receive prenatal care, education/job development, and housing.

Funding for CAMI is due to expire April 30, 1995. Among CAMI's innovations in outpatient prevention and treatment have been early detection and screening of infants and children (and referral for services as necessary), parenting training, outreach to difficult to reach target populations, and follow-up of clients post-treatment. From February 1991 to June 1994, CAMI has served 249 women, 153 infants and approximately 200 children. Of the 40 women who had been in treatment and are presently involved in 6 month post-treatment reevaluations, 79% have abstained from use of all drugs except tobacco (72% continue to smoke). Importantly, clients in CAMI have demonstrated a significant decrease in drug use during the second trimester of pregnancy. This reduces the probability of perinatal effects of drug use and therefore the costs of medical and associated care.

Providing continuing support for CAMI under the CSAT PPW program helps to ensure linkage between the residential and follow-up phases of treatment and thereby improve the likelihood of sustained recovery for the discharged mothers and their children as well as for women to enter the outpatient program only. This will, in turn, result in positive, wide-ranging impact on the Tucson community.

This grant will support comprehensive outpatient services to mothers and their infants, including:

- (1) Outpatient substance abuse treatment;
- (2) Expanded outreach to women not yet engaged in treatment;
- (3) Coordination of services for women enrolled in the PPW program, including continuing care (aftercare) services;
- (4) Expanding treatment, psychological counseling and educational groups tailored specifically to the needs of women in treatment;
- (5) Expanding the wellness component and strengthening its linkage with the PPW residential program;
- (6) Expanding the mentoring program;
- (7) Provision of child care services for women enrolled only in the outpatient program; and
- (8) Expanded prevention services directed toward at-risk populations.

This grant is consistent with the State of Arizona drug abuse treatment plan. Providing funding to CODAC under this grant will help ensure that the prevention and treatment approaches devised and implemented by CODAC can continue to serve as models for programs serving women and their children throughout the country.

The project will be funded for one year in the amount of approximately $500,000.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In accordance with 56 FR 23789 (May 24, 1991) and section 501 of the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 11411), as amended, HUD is publishing this Notice to identify Federal buildings and other real property that HUD has reviewed for suitability for use to assist the homeless. The properties were reviewed using information provided to HUD by Federal landholding agencies regarding unutilized and underutilized buildings and real property controlled by such agencies or by GSA regarding its inventory of excess or surplus Federal property. This Notice is also published in order to comply with the December 12, 1988 Court Order in National Coalition for the Homeless v. Veterans Administration, No. 88-2503-OG (D.D.C.).

Properties reviewed are listed in this Notice according to the following categories: Suitable/available, suitable/unavailable, suitable/to be excess, and unsuitable. The properties listed in the three suitable categories have been reviewed by the landholding agencies, and each agency has transmitted to HUD: (1) Its intention to make the property available for use to assist the homeless, (2) its intention to declare the property excess to the agency's needs, or (3) a statement of the reasons that the property cannot be declared excess or made available for use as facilities to assist the homeless.

Properties listed as suitable/available will be available exclusively for homeless use for a period of 60 days from the date of this Notice. For properties listed as suitable/to be excess, that property may, if subsequently accepted as excess by GSA, be made available for use by the homeless in accordance with applicable law, subject to screening for other Federal use. At the appropriate time, HUD will publish the property in a Notice showing it as either suitable/available or suitable/unavailable.

For properties listed as suitable/unavailable, the landholding agency has decided that the property cannot be declared excess or made available for use to assist the homeless, and the property will not be available.

Properties listed as unsuitable will not be made available for any other purpose for 20 days from the date of this Notice. Homeless assistance providers interested in a review by HUD of the determination of unsuitability should call the toll free information line at 1-800-927-7588 for detailed instructions or write a letter to William Molster at the address listed at the beginning of this Notice. Included in the request for review should be the property address (including zip code), the date of publication in the Federal Register, the landholding agency, and the property number.
