

education, library, day care, health care, and early childhood development services are provided to the children.

Eligible Applicant

Assistance will be provided only to the ASHA. No other applications are solicited. The program announcement and application kit have been sent to ASHA. Eligibility is limited to ASHA because it provides representation from a wide variety of professionals in health, education, and social services around the country who serve children through school health programs or related research. ASHA was created specifically to represent this wide variety of professionals, and is unique in its role as a liaison between the school health community and government and other national organizations. With a current membership of 3500 the ASHA has served as a policy development and capacity building organization for more than 70 years. One of its major objectives is the sharing of information that will support school health programs and protect and improve the well-being of children. Thus, the ASHA membership will benefit directly from a compiled body of knowledge that can be used to improve and create quality school health programs and which helps ASHA affiliated researchers to focus their work on key questions.

The ASHA's commitment to improvement of the health of school-aged children and demonstrated ability to produce and disseminate information accessible to a wide variety of school health professionals are demonstrated by its flagship publication the Journal of School Health whose articles cover all areas of medical and education practice with special application to school health programs, and which circulates in the U.S. and 56 foreign countries. In addition, the ASHA has a long history of special publications including "Achieving the 1990 Health Objectives for the Nation: Agenda for the Nation's Schools" and "Recommendations for Delivery of Comprehensive Primary Health Care to Children and Youth in the School Setting."

The ASHA has established an advisory panel and a review panel of its members representing graduate academic programs training school health professionals within various disciplines to provide expertise in the planning and conduct of this project. Other professional organizations to which the advisory panel members belong and will serve as agents of for this project include the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, the American Public Health Association, the Society for the Promotion of Health Education, the Association for the Advancement of Health Education, the International Union on Health Education and Promotion, the American Dietetic Association, and the American School Food Service Association. These organizations will serve as resources for the collection of school health evaluations and will benefit from the dissemination of the final review and synthesis.
