BILLING CODE 4810-31-P

OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES TRADE REPRESENTATIVE

Generalized System of Preferences;
Pakistan; Internationally Recognized
Worker Rights

AGENCY: Office of the United States Trade Representative.

ACTION: Notice and opportunity for public comment.

SUMMARY: The Administration has decided to suspend some of Pakistan's GSP benefits because of insufficient progress on internationally recognized worker rights. This notice invites public comments on whether the Administration should suspend GSP benefits for sporting goods, surgical instruments and/or certain hand-knotted and woven carpets.

DATES: Comments are due Wednesday, December 6, 1995.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: GSP Subcommittee, Office of the United States Trade Representative, 600 17th Street, N.W., Room 518, Washington, D.C. 20508. The telephone number is (202) 395-6971.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. The GSP Program

The GSP program grants duty-free treatment to designated eligible articles that are imported from designated beneficiary developing countries. The program is authorized by Title V of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended ("Trade Act") (19 U.S.C. 2461 et seq.). The GSP program expired on July 31, 1995. A bill to renew the program is pending in Congress. This notice solicits public comments, but the Administration cannot take any action unless and until the GSP program is reauthorized.

To qualify for GSP privileges, each beneficiary country must comply with a number of eligibility requirements. One such requirement is that the beneficiary country must be "taking steps" (i.e., making progress) to provide "internationally recognized worker rights" (19 U.S.C. 2462(b)(7) and (c)(7)).

The GSP statute defines "internationally recognized worker rights" as: (1) The right of association; (2) the right to organize and bargain collectively; (3) a prohibition against any form of forced or compulsory labor; (4) a minimum age for the employment of children; and (5) acceptable conditions of work with respect to minimum wages, hours of work and occupational safety and health (19 U.S.C. 2462(a)(4)).

Each year, the Administration conducts a public review process in which a beneficiary's compliance with the eligibility requirements can be reviewed.

II. Worker Rights in Pakistan

In June 1993, the Administration received three petitions that requested a review of labor law and practice in Pakistan under the auspices of the GSP program. In October 1993, the Administration announced that the petitions were being accepted for review (see USTR Press Release 93-63). Since that time, the United States Government and the Government of Pakistan have been working cooperatively to seek improved labor law and practice in Pakistan. The principal issues have concerned the exemption of the Karachi export processing zone from the labor law of Pakistan, the application of the Essential Services Act and child and bonded labor.

In July 1994, the Administration acknowledged the commitment of the Government of Pakistan, and the review was continued (see USTR Press Release 94-39 and Pakistan Worker Rights Review Summary (July 1994), available from USTR). Since that time, consultations have continued and the Government of Pakistan has considered a number of actions to bring its labor rights regime into closer compliance with international labor norms.

In July 1995, the Administration announced that the review would be continued until October to give the Government of Pakistan time to fulfill our expectations and understanding that they would take actions that would improve labor law and practice in Pakistan (see USTR Press Release 95-54).

Notwithstanding our constructive dialogue with the Government of Pakistan and their evident commitment to improve labor law and practice in Pakistan, the Administration has now decided to suspend some of Pakistan's GSP benefits because of insufficient progress on internationally recognized worker rights. Specifically, the Administration is considering whether to suspend GSP benefits for sporting goods, surgical instruments and/or certain hand-knotted and woven carpets, sectors in which child labor is reportedly used.

III. Public Comments

This notice solicits public comments on which benefits should be suspended because Pakistan has made insufficient progress on improving labor law and practice. All written comments should be addressed to: GSP Subcommittee, Office of the U.S. Trade Representative, 600 17th Street, N.W., Room 518, Washington, D.C. 20508. All
