

rulemaking is required. "Small entities" may include (1) small businesses and not-for-profit organizations that are independently owned and operated and are not dominant in their fields and (2) governmental jurisdictions with populations of less than 50,000.

The Coast Guard certifies that, if adopted, it will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities because entry into this proposed regulated area would be prohibited for only 6 hours on each day of the event. If, however, you think that your business or organization qualifies as a small entity and that this proposed rule will have a significant economic impact on your business or organization, please submit comments explaining why you think it qualifies and what way and to what degree this rule will economically affect it.

An environmental assessment and finding of no significant impact have been prepared. Furthermore, as a condition to the permit, the applicant will be required to educate the operators of spectator craft and parade participants regarding the possible presence of manatees and the appropriate precautions to take if the animals are sighted.

Regulated Navigation Area; Mullet Key Channel, Tampa, FL

AGENCY: Coast Guard, DOT.

ACTION: Withdrawal of proposed rule; notice of termination.

SUMMARY: This rulemaking project was initiated to protect vessels with drafts greater than 38 feet from safety hazards associated with shoaling within Mullet Key Channel. Since initiation of this rule, Mullet Key Channel has been dredged to a project depth of 45 feet. This dredging has eliminated the shoaling problem in the channel and reduced the risks for vessels with drafts greater than 38 feet. Therefore, the Coast Guard is withdrawing and terminating further rulemaking under docket number CGD07-93-010.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

LT James Raby, Chief, Port Management Department, Marine Safety Office Tampa, 155 Columbia Dr., Tampa, FL 33606, Phone: (813) 228-2189.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The regulated navigation area for Mullet Key Channel was first published in the Federal Register on November 12, 1993 [58 FR 59975]. This proposed regulation was established to protect vessels with drafts greater than 38 feet from the safety hazards associated with shoaling on the outside edges of the marked channel. Under this proposed regulation, all vessels with a draft in excess of 38 feet transiting Mullet Key Channel, would have been limited to a one way traffic zone. Numerous comments were received from the port community disagreeing on the need for this regulation. Correspondence from the port community agreed that minor shoaling did exist in Mullet Key Channel. However, due to the width of the Channel being 600 feet, there is still sufficient room for even the largest vessels that enter Tampa Bay to transit the Channel simultaneously. The surrounding waters of Mullet Key Channel are also much deeper than what is normally found in the remainder of the bay. This deeper water significantly reduces the hydrodynamic effects on vessels which can pull a vessel out of the channel. These comments, in addition to the completed dredging of the Channel to a project depth of 45 feet, eliminated the need for this regulation. Therefore, this rulemaking is no longer necessary, and the Coast Guard is withdrawing it and terminating further rulemaking under docket number CGD07-93-010.

Dated: September 9, 1996.

Rear Admiral, U.S. Coast Guard Commander, Seventh Coast Guard District.
