

POSTAL SERVICERequest for Further Comments on Development of Strategic Plan for U.S. Postal Service, Pursuant to the Government Performance and Results Act of 1993; and Correction

AGENCY: Postal Service.

ACTION: Request for further comments and correction.

SUMMARY: This document clarifies the Postal Service's Request for Comments, published in the Federal Register on April 2, 1997, and requests further comments. The April 2, 1997, notice asked for public comments on the development of the Postal Service Strategic Plan for the years 1998–2002, pursuant to the Government Performance and Results Act of 1993. In addition to clarifying that Request for Comments, this document also adds text that was inadvertently omitted from that publication. The comment period is extended by two weeks.

DATES: Comments must be received by June 15, 1997.

ADDRESSES: Written comments should be directed to Robert A.F. Reisner, Vice President, Strategic Planning, U.S. Postal Service, 475 L'Enfant Plaza, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20260–1520.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Jon L. Cook, (202) 268–4099.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On April 2, 1997, the Postal Service published a Federal Register notice asking for public comment as part of the effort to develop a Five-Year Strategic Plan under the Government Performance and Results Act of 1993 (62 FR 15740–15741). Since that time, the Postal Service has received comments from several parties and has been actively consulting with the Congress and with key stakeholders.

Clarification Concerning Scope of Comments

One comment concerns the extent to which the April 2, 1997, Request for Comments could have been interpreted as constraining the scope of comments that are being sought. In fact, the Postal Service seeks comments on any matters that may be relevant to the development of a Five-Year Strategic Plan. Specifically, the Postal Service has asked key stakeholders:

1. Is universal postal service at uniform rates still an essential service to the public?
2. What is the best way to balance the dual role of the Postal Service as a public service provider and a business-like enterprise?

3. When do consumer and public benefits warrant that a public agency provide services that might be offered by private enterprise?

4. How should public services and private interest be balanced in providing existing and enhanced postal services?

The Postal Service would be interested in receiving comments on these issues or any other matters related to the development of its Five-Year Strategic Plan.

Erratum

In addition, the April 2, 1997, notice omitted three words in a paragraph describing one of the Postal Service goals as a part of the CustomerPerfect! Process. This publication corrects the omission of those three words from this goal statement. The current wording of the CustomerPerfect! customer goal should read:

(1) Improve customer satisfaction by offering superior customer value in each market and customer segment that we target; (Italics reflect omitted language, now added.)

Because of this clarification and correction, the Postal Service extends the deadline for providing comments until June 15, 1997.

Accordingly, the Request for Comments on April 2, 1997, which was the subject of FR Doc. 97–8270, is corrected as set forth below.

In the Postal Service publication of Wednesday, April 2, 1997, on p. 15741, in the second column, goal number 1 is corrected to read as follows:

“(1) Improve customer satisfaction by offering superior customer value in each market and customer segment that we target.”

Stanley F. Mires,

Chief Counsel, Legislative.
