SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This collection implements regulatory requirements found at 12 CFR Part 350. Banks subject to the regulation are required to notify the general public, and in some instances shareholders, that disclosure statements are available on request. Required disclosures consist of financial reports for the current and preceding year which can be photocopied directly from the year-end call reports. Also, on a case-by-case basis, the FDIC may require that descriptions of enforcement actions be included in disclosure statements. The regulation allows, but does not require, the inclusion of management discussions and analysis. The information is intended to aid members of the general public in determining whether to establish or continue a relationship with a particular bank by making publicly available information more accessible. Given the public's ongoing concerns about the health of the banking system and individual banks and its greater awareness of the risks of holding deposits at a bank in excess of the FDIC's insurance coverage, the annual disclosure statement (the objective of which is to make existing bank financial information more directly and readily accessible to the public) is intended to be a convenient and useful mechanism for current and prospective bank customers to obtain information concerning the condition of an institution.
