Three Rivers Pipeline Company; Order Approving Settlement and Instituting Proceeding

Issued September 17, 1998.

On August 17, 1995, Three Rivers Pipeline Company (Three Rivers) filed an uncontested settlement of its rates for transportation service rendered under § 311(a)(2) of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 (NGPA). Subsequently, staff sent Three Rivers data requests concerning its transportation services and jurisdictional status. Based on our review of the settlement and the record in this proceeding, the Commission finds that the settlement is a reasonable resolution of the issues concerning Three Rivers' rates in effect between April 1, 1995, and the issuance of any future order approving superseding rates based on the outcome of the proceeding instituted by this order. The Commission also finds, however, that Three Rivers should be required to explain why the Commission should not find Three Rivers to be an interstate pipeline subject to the Commission's Natural Gas Act (NGA) jurisdiction. In the alternative, Three Rivers may produce evidence that it qualifies as a "Hinshaw pipeline" exempt from Commission jurisdiction under the provisions of section 1(c) of the Natural Gas Act.

I. Background and Related Proceedings

A. Facilities

In 1946, Mobil Oil Company (Mobil) constructed a 300-mile long, 8-inch diameter oil-products pipeline extending from southwest Pennsylvania, at Midland, to the border of New Jersey. Mobil currently uses its pipeline east of Altoona, Pennsylvania, for the transportation of oil products. On August 29, 1991, Three Rivers purchased approximately 121 miles of Mobil's oil-products pipeline extending from Midland to Altoona in order to render natural gas service. Three Rivers, then owned by subsidiaries of GEMCO Gas Marketing, Inc. and Pentex Petroleum, Inc., converted the oil products pipeline to natural gas use. Subsequently, Three Rivers added compression on the eastern portion of its system, main line valves, and interconnections with National Fuel Gas Supply (National Fuel) at the Midland receipt point, and delivery points at downstream locations in Pennsylvania
