[Notice No. 870]

RIN 1512-AB58

Distilled Spirits Plant Regulatory Initiative Proposals

AGENCY: Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF), Department of the Treasury.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: ATF is proposing changes to the distilled spirits plant regulations to implement the Administration's Reinventing Government effort to reduce the regulatory burden and streamline requirements on the regulated public.

Proposals for change include removing an obsolete provision relating to special (occupational) tax; liberalizing the requirement for approval of changes in plant security personnel or procedures; reducing the paperwork when plant premises are alternated with other premises according to a previously approved plan; providing for alternation of distilled spirits plant and brewery premises; allowing denaturation and manufacture of articles to be done in a single, unified process; specifying marks for packages of spirits withdrawn taxpaid for industrial use; clarifying regulations that refer to a transfer record required when spirits are transferred in bulk from customs custody to the bonded premises of a distilled spirits plant; and incorporating a provision of Industry Circular 80-6 regarding the importation of alcohol fuel.

ATF believes these proposed changes will benefit distilled spirits plant proprietors and other industry members by enabling them to operate more easily and with less regulatory oversight from the Government.

Besides proposing and soliciting comments on these specific changes, ATF is requesting suggestions for additional changes that may, in the future, be proposed for the general system of recordkeeping at distilled spirits plants.

DATES: Written comments on specific proposals for which regulatory language is set forth in this notice must be received by January 29, 1999. Comments suggesting future possible changes pertaining to the general system of recordkeeping at distilled spirits plants must be received by March 30, 1999.

ADDRESSES: Send written comments to: Chief, Regulations Division, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, P.O. Box 50221, Washington, DC 20091-0221; Notice No. 870.

Copies of written comments in response to this notice of proposed rulemaking will be available for public inspection during normal business hours in the ATF Reference Library, Room 6480, 650 Massachusetts Avenue NW., Washington, DC 20226.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:Delegations of Authority

Since the authorities formerly assigned to the "regional director (compliance)" have been reassigned to other officials, references to "regional director (compliance)" in regulations proposed to be amended or promulgated by this document are proposed to be changed to "appropriate ATF official."

Special Tax Provisions

ATF proposes to delete obsolete provisions in § 19.49(a)(2) which refer to the special (occupational) tax rate applicable to distilled spirits plants in business as of January 1, 1988. There are no substantive changes proposed relating to special tax.

Change in Security Personnel or Procedures

Currently, § 19.153(b) requires an application for amended plant registration (ATF Form 5110.41) to be filed each time there is a change in plant security personnel or procedures. ATF has determined that this requirement may be liberalized without jeopardy to the revenue. Therefore, this notice proposes to amend § 19.153(b) to require a letterhead application for changes in security procedures (§ 19.153(a) (1)-(4)), and a letterhead notice for changes in security personnel (§ 19.153(a)(5)). The plant registration would be updated on an annual basis to incorporate changes made during the preceding year.

Alternation of Premises

Current regulations in §§ 19.203-206 require the filing of a notice on ATF Form 5110.34 every time distilled spirits plant premises are alternated with general premises or with other ATF-regulated premises. However, ATF has determined that this requirement is unnecessary and burdensome when, as frequently occurs, these premises are regularly alternated according to a set plan of operations. Therefore, this notice proposes to amend §§ 19.203-206 to provide that after the proprietor has received approval of the plan (defining the boundary of the premises to be alternated), the alternation may take place pursuant to records to be kept in a logbook. The content of those records is prescribed in new § 19.781. Further, it is proposed to provide for alternation of distilled spirits plant and brewery premises, which is not currently provided for. With respect to alternation of proprietors under § 19.201 and alternation with customs premises under § 19.202, this notice proposes to substitute a letterhead notice for the filing of Form 5110.34; thus, that form (OMB control number 1512-0202) will become obsolete. The notice of suspension of production operations for 90 days or more in section A of Form 5110.34 will be covered by an amendment of § 19.311.

Denaturation and Article Manufacture

Regulations in § 19.454 require gauges both before and after denaturation. If followed, this requirement prevents a distilled spirits plant from conducting denaturation and article manufacture in a single, unified process. A unified process may be desirable, for example, when manufacture of an article involves addition of more of the same chemicals as are used as denaturants in making the denatured spirits formula from which the article is manufactured. Clearly, in this case, and in other similar situations, it would be helpful to be able to add the entire quantity of chemicals for denaturation and article manufacture in a single step, rather than pausing to take a gauge after the chemicals necessary to denature the spirits had been added. The purpose of requiring gauges before and after denaturation is to obtain accurate measurements of spirits used for denaturation, and of denatured spirits produced. However, when denatured spirits and articles are manufactured in a unified process, the quantity of denatured spirits produced can be accurately determined by a computation. Therefore, this notice proposes to amend § 19.454 to allow proprietors using such a process to use a prescribed method of computation to determine the quantity of denatured spirits produced.

Marks on Packages of Tax-Paid Industrial Spirits

Regulations in § 19.596 require certain information to be marked on "packages" (i.e. barrels or drums) of distilled spirits. These regulations primarily envision barrels of beverage spirits (e.g. whisky) entering bonded storage. Thus, in § 19.596(a), only "rated capacity" need be shown on packages filled in production or storage, since the actual contents of wooden barrels changes during the aging process. For packages filled in processing (§ 19.596(b)), not even the rated capacity is required; the proof must be shown, but not the quantity. In general, there is no requirement for quantity of contents to be shown on packages. This may be appropriate for beverage spirits, which will be put in bottles before withdrawal from bond, but it can be problematic for industrial spirits. Particularly, if spirits in drums are withdrawn on tax determination for shipment to a manufacturer of nonbeverage products, that manufacturer does not have a ready means of determining their contents for taking a physical inventory. Moreover, the absence of a requirement for quantity of contents to be shown on packages is abnormal, when compared with regulations governing similar situations. Thus, quantity of contents must be shown on cases of spirits filled in processing (§ 19.607), on cases of industrial alcohol (§ 19.608), on containers of imported spirits (§ 19.484), on containers of spirits from an alcohol fuel plant (§ 19.1008), on bulk conveyances (§ 19.606), and even on packages of denatured spirits (§ 19.601). ATF feels that the advantage to nonbeverage manufacturers in having contents information as a required package mark outweighs any added burden on distilled spirits plant proprietors in being required to provide such information. Therefore, this notice proposes an amendment to § 19.605 to require proof, tare, and proof gallons to be marked on packages of spirits withdrawn on determination of tax.

Transfer Record for Shipments From Customs Custody

The transfer record for spirits being received into ATF bond from customs custody is mentioned in § 19.770 in a way that implies that this transfer record would be prepared under that section. However, 27 CFR 251.138 prescribes the information for the transfer record covering such transfers, and that information is different in several ways from the information required for domestic transfers by § 19.770. Therefore, it is proposed to amend § 19.770 to clarify that the record required for transfer of spirits from customs custody must be prepared in accordance with § 251.138. ATF also proposes to add a sentence to § 19.481, cross referencing the requirements of part 251 pertaining to transfers from customs custody.

Importation of Alcohol Fuel

Industry Circular 80-6, titled "Distilled Spirits for Fuel Use," explained that an alcohol fuel plant may receive shipments of imported alcohol from customs custody, provided the alcohol was not produced from petroleum, natural gas, or coal. Subsequently, ATF has determined that, under the statute, this privilege only applies to medium and large alcohol fuel plants, since small plants are not covered by a bond. (Nontaxpaid bulk spirits transferred from customs custody are required by 26 U.S.C. 5232 to go to premises that are "bonded.") Further, 26 U.S.C. 5181(a)(1) provides that an alcohol fuel plant may be established solely for the purpose of (A) producing, processing, and storing, and (B) using or distributing distilled spirits for fuel use. Therefore, an alcohol fuel plant may not be established solely for the purpose of receiving and processing imported alcohol, since no distilled spirits would be "produced." For the same reason, imported spirits received at an alcohol fuel plant must be subjected to some form of manufacture or processing (such as addition of materials to render the spirits unfit for beverage use). However, 26 U.S.C. 5232 prevents such spirits from being redistilled or denatured if they were imported at less than 185° proof. This notice proposes to incorporate expressly these determinations in the regulations by adding a new § 19.1003.

General System of Recordkeeping

In general, the system of recordkeeping prescribed in part 19 is derived from the system that was in place prior to the institution of "all-in-bond" in 1980. In many instances, use of commercial records is prescribed in lieu of previously required Government forms, but the content of the commercial record must be the same as was formerly shown on the Government form. Thus, the present recordkeeping system is not as different from the former system as it might appear. Ultimately, the present system descends from the era when Federal officers were permanently stationed at distilled spirits plants and kept many of the records that are now required to be kept by the plant proprietors. ATF feels that this is a situation that calls for examination under the Administration's Reinventing Government initiative. Modern methods of recordkeeping, particularly the use of computers, should be taken into account. The entire system should be looked at globally to determine whether the Government's goal of ensuring that all distilled spirits are accounted for, from production to taxpayment, can be met by a modern system that is based as much as possible on the industry's own recordkeeping methods. Before proposing specific regulatory changes, comments and suggestions should be considered from all segments of the distilled spirits industry and others concerned. Accordingly, this notice requests such comments and suggestions.

Public Participation—Written Comments

ATF requests comments from all interested persons. All comments received on or before the closing date will be carefully considered. Executive Order 12866

It has been determined that this proposed rule is not a significant regulatory action, because it will not: (1) Have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more or adversely affect in a material way the economy, a sector of the economy, productivity, competition, jobs, the environment, public health or safety, or State, local or tribal governments or communities; (2) Create a serious inconsistency or otherwise interfere with an action taken or planned by another agency; (3) Materially alter the budgetary impact of entitlements, grants, user fees, or loan programs or the rights and obligations of recipients thereof; or (4) Raise novel legal or policy issues arising out of legal mandates, the President's priorities, or the principles set forth in Executive Order 12866.

Paperwork Reduction Act

Under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, no persons are required to respond to a collection of information unless it displays a valid OMB control number. The collections of information contained in regulations proposed to be amended by this notice have been previously reviewed and approved by the Office of Management and Budget in accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3507) under control numbers 1512-0202, 1512-0206, 1512-0215, 1512-0250, and 1512-0461. The proposed amendments are expected to result in a net annual reduction of 450 burden hours, due to (1) the elimination of control number 1512-0202 (1,000 burden hours), (2) a net increase of 50 burden hours under control number 1512-0206, and (3) an increase of 500 burden hours under control number 1512-0250. Comments on these collections of information should be sent to the Office of Management and Budget, Attention: Desk Officer for the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Washington, DC 20503, with copies to the Chief, Document Services Branch, Room 3110, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, 650 Massachusetts Avenue NW., Washington, DC 20226.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

Pursuant to § 7805(f) of the Internal Revenue Code, this regulation has been submitted to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy of the Small Business Administration for comment on its impact on small business.

It is hereby certified that this regulation will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. As discussed elsewhere in this preamble, this proposed rule will ease the regulatory burden on small proprietors and will not: (1) impose, or otherwise cause, a significant increase in recordkeeping or other compliance burdens on a substantial number of small entities or (2) have significant secondary or incidental effects on a substantial number of small entities. The factual basis for this certification is that the proposed regulatory amendments will result in a reduced burden on small entities. Accordingly, an initial regulatory flexibility analysis is not required.

A single notice may be filed if it is signed by an authorized representative of each proprietor.

* * * * *

(f) Filing of notices. The letterhead notices required by paragraph (a) of this section shall be submitted to the area supervisor for transmission to the appropriate ATF official. Separate notices shall be submitted for each alternation of premises. Par. 11. Section 19.311 is revised to read as follows:

§ 19.311 Notice by proprietor.

(a) Commencement of operations. The proprietor shall, before commencing production operations or resuming production operations after having given notice of suspension, file a letterhead notice with the area supervisor, specifying the date on which the proprietor desires to commence or resume operations for the production of spirits. The proprietor shall not commence or resume operations prior to the time specified in the notice.

(b) Suspension of operations. Any proprietor desiring to suspend production operations for a period of 90 days or more shall file a letterhead notice with the area supervisor, specifying the date on which the operations will be suspended. In case of an accident which makes it apparent that operations cannot be conducted for 90 days or more, the proprietor shall immediately notify the area supervisor. (If such notification is verbal, it shall be followed up with a written notice.) (Sec. 201, Pub. L. 85-859, 72 Stat. 1364, as amended (26 U.S.C. 5221))

(1) The spirits to be denatured are gauged by weight.

(2) The denaturants to be used are gauged by weight.

(3) The following computation is performed:

(i) The weight (in pounds) of denaturants used for denaturation (not to include any additional quantity of the same chemicals being used for article manufacture) is added to the weight (in pounds) of the spirits.

(ii) The sum thus obtained is divided by a number consistent with the data in § 21.161 of this chapter under the heading “Wt./gal. in air (lbs.),” extrapolated as necessary to the exact proof of the spirits.

(iii) The result is the number of wine gallons of denatured spirits produced; this figure shall be entered in the record required by § 19.752(b).

§ 19.481 [Amended]

Par. 13. Section 19.481 is amended by adding at the end of the existing text the following new sentence:
