Analysis of Proposed Consent Order To Aid Public Comment

The Federal Trade Commission ("Commission") has accepted, subject to final approval, an agreement containing a proposed Consent Order from Respondent Zeneca Group PLC ("Zeneca"), which is designed to remedy the anticompetitive effects resulting from the merger of Zeneca and Astra AB ("Astra"). Under the terms of the agreement, Respondent will be required, among other things, to transfer and surrender all of Zeneca's rights and assets relating to levobupivacaine, a long-acting local anesthetic, to Chiroscience Group plc ("Chiroscience"), the developer of levobupivacaine.

The proposed Consent Order has been placed on the public record for sixty (60) days for reception of comments by interested persons. Comments received during this period will become part of the public record. After sixty (60) days, the Commission will again review the proposed Consent Order and the comments received, and will decide whether it should withdraw from the proposed Consent Order or make final the proposed Order.

Pursuant to a December 9, 1998, Merger Agreement and Plan of Merger, Zeneca agreed to acquire 100 percent of all issued shares of Astra stock for approximately $30.5 billion. Upon completion of the merger, Zeneca will be renamed AstraZeneca. The proposed Complaint alleges that the merger, if consummated, would violate section 7 of the Clayton Act, as amended, 15 U.S.C. 18, and section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act, as amended, 15 U.S.C. 45, in the U.S. market for long-acting local anesthetics.

Long-acting local anesthetics are pharmaceutical products used to relieve pain during the course of surgical or other medical procedures by blocking pain impulses from reaching the central nervous system. Long-acting local anesthetics have an effective duration of up to six to seven hours, and allow patients to remain awake and conscious throughout the medical procedure.
