General description of report: Title I of the Consumer Credit Protection Act (15 U.S.C. 1601 et seq.) authorizes the Board to issue regulations to carry out the provisions of the Consumer Credit Protection Act (15 U.S.C. 1604(a)). Since the Federal Reserve does not collect any information, no issue of confidentiality arises. Transaction-or account-specific disclosures and billing error allegations are not publicly available and are confidential between the creditor and consumer. Abstract: Regulation Z (12 CFR part 226) implements the Truth in Lending Act (15 U.S.C. 1601 et seq.). The act and regulation ensure adequate disclosure of the costs and terms of credit to consumers on an event-generated basis. For open-end credit (revolving credit accounts), creditors are required to disclose information about the initial costs and terms and to provide periodic statements of account activity, notices of change in terms, and statements of rights concerning billing error procedures. The regulation also requires specific types of disclosures for credit and charge card accounts, and home equity plans. For closed-end loans (such as mortgage and installment loans) cost disclosures are required to be provided prior to consummation. Specific products trigger special disclosures, such as reverse mortgages, certain variable rate loans, and certain mortgages with rates and fees above a specific amount. Regulation Z also contains rules concerning credit advertising. Creditors are required to retain records as evidence of compliance with Regulation Z for twenty-four months (subpart D, section 226.25).
