General Description of Report

This information collection is voluntary for financial institution respondents and authorized pursuant to 12 U.S.C. 481 and 484 (national banks); 12 U.S.C. 248(a)(1) (state member banks); 12 U.S.C. 1463 and 1464 (savings associations); and 12 U.S.C. 1819(a)(Eighth) (state non-member banks and state branches of any foreign bank). Confidentiality would be determined on a case-by-case basis. In gathering information from respondents under its jurisdiction, the FTC may use the compulsory authority granted to it in Section 6(b) of the Federal Trade Commission Act, 15 U.S.C. 46(b). Confidentiality will be protected in accordance with the FTC Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice.

Abstract

The study the Agencies propose will use a written Survey to be completed by financial institutions and other persons that are creditors or users of consumer reports ("respondents").² The Agencies will use the responses to the Survey to prepare an initial report to the Congress on information sharing practices by financial institutions, creditors, or users of consumer reports with their affiliates. The Agencies are required jointly to submit this report to the Congress together with any recommendations for legislative or regulatory action, pursuant to Section 214(e) of the FACT Act. A copy of the Board's draft survey of information sharing practices with affiliates will be made available, within ² Each respondent will provide information about more than one financial institution or other person that is a creditor or user of consumer reports. At a minimum, each respondent will be providing information about itself and at least one affiliate.

seven days after publication of this notice, on the Board's public Web site at: <http://www.federalreserve.gov/boarddocs/reportforms/review.cfm> under "Information Collections Out for Public Comment."

Background

The FACT Act became law on December 4, 2003. Pub. L. 108-159, 117 Stat. 1952. In general, the FACT Act amends the Fair Credit Reporting Act ("FCRA") to enhance the ability of consumers to combat identity theft, increase the accuracy of consumer reports, and allow consumers to exercise greater control regarding the type and amount of marketing solicitations they receive. To promote increasingly efficient national credit markets, the FACT Act also establishes uniform national standards in key areas of regulation regarding consumer report information. The Act contains a number of provisions intended to combat consumer fraud and related crimes, including identity theft, and to assist victims of these crimes. Finally, the Act requires the Agencies to conduct a number of studies.

Section 214(e) of the FACT Act requires the Agencies jointly to conduct regular studies of the consumer information sharing practices by financial institutions, and other persons that are creditors or users of consumer reports, with their affiliates. In that regard, Section 214(e) requires the Agencies to identify: (i) The purposes for which financial institutions and other creditors and users of consumer reports share consumer information; (ii) the types of information shared by such entities; (iii) the number of choices provided to consumers with respect to the control of such sharing, and the degree to which and manner in which consumers exercise such choices, if at all; and (iv) whether such entities share or may share personally identifiable transaction or experience information with affiliates for purposes—(I) That are related to employment or hiring including whether the person that is the subject of such information is given notice of such sharing, and the specific uses of such shared information; or (II) of general publication of such information.

The statute also requires the Agencies specifically to examine the information sharing practices that financial institutions and other creditors or users of consumer reports and their affiliates employ to make underwriting decisions or credit evaluations of consumers. The Agencies must jointly submit a report to the Congress on the results of the initial study together with any recommendations for legislative or regulatory action. After the initial report, the Agencies must jointly submit follow-up reports to the Congress at least once every three years.

Proposed Survey Panel

The Agencies will select the survey panel based on whether the prospective respondent has affiliates with which it can share information, whether the prospective respondent is likely to be a user of consumer reports, and other factors.

Estimated Annual Burden Hours

Each respondent will complete a written Survey. In order to complete the Survey, the individual completing the form for the respondent will most likely need to consult staff in other parts of the organization and obtain data from recordkeeping systems. Based on the Agencies' expertise and experience, we estimate the consultations and the collection of data will take between four and eight hours per respondent. The Agencies estimate it will then take less than two hours for each respondent to complete the Survey. However, numerous factors are likely to influence the amount of time it will take a respondent to complete the Survey, including the number and type of affiliates, as well as the diversity of information sharing practices among affiliates. Based on the methodology proposed, the total burden imposed by the initial study, for all six agencies, will be approximately 3,000 hours.

Request for Comment

The Agencies invite comment on:

- a. Whether the information collections are necessary for the proper performance of the Agencies' functions, including whether the information has practical utility;
- b. The accuracy of the Agencies' estimates of the burden of the information collections, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;
- c. Ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and
- d. Ways to minimize the burden of information collections on respondents, including through the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology.

In addition, the OCC invites comments on the following:

- aa. The specific data the Agencies should collect to prepare the report required by Section 214(e) of the Fact Act and the terminology that will best describe and correctly specify the data to be collected;

bb. If any data the Agencies should collect are not available, the type of proxy data the Agencies should request;

cc. The extent to which depository institutions currently track and are able to report on the methods (e.g., telephone, online) used by consumers to opt-out of affiliate information sharing; and

dd. Information related to recordkeeping practices or other aspects of the data specification and survey development process.

Comments submitted in response to this notice will be shared among the Agencies. Unless otherwise afforded confidential treatment pursuant to Federal law, all comments will become a matter of public record.
