

under Rule 19b-4(f)(6)(iii),¹⁰ Nasdaq provided the Commission with written notice of its intention to file the proposed rule change, along with a brief description and the text of the proposed rule change, at least five business days prior to filing the proposal with the Commission. Therefore, the foregoing rule change has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A) of the Act¹¹ and Rule 19b-4(f)(6) thereunder.¹²

Pursuant to Rule 19b-4(f)(6)(iii) under the Act, a proposal does not become operative for 30 days after the date of its filing, or such shorter time as the Commission may designate if consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. Nasdaq has asked the Commission to waive the 30-day operative delay to allow the proposal to be operative on March 31, 2008, the day Nasdaq plans to launch NOM. Nasdaq states that it has carefully planned a detailed and thorough testing and roll-out schedule for the NOM market, and has coordinated this schedule with numerous industry participants. Nasdaq believes that disrupting this schedule for the proposed modifications would cause disproportionate inconvenience and delay the launch of a process that will benefit investors. The Commission notes that waiving the 30-day operative delay will allow Nasdaq to launch NOM pursuant to its planned schedule. Further, the proposal will clarify NOM's rules, correct technical errors, and provide greater consistency between NOM's opening and closing procedures and the opening and closing procedures Nasdaq uses in its equity market. For these reasons, the Commission believes that waiving the 30-day operative delay is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest and therefore designates that the proposal become operative immediately.

At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission may summarily abrogate such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

IV. Solicitation of Comments
