§ 94.12, 94.16, 94.17, 94.18 [Amended]

■ 2. Sections 94.12, 94.16, 94.17, and 94.18 are amended by redesignating footnotes 12 through 18 as footnotes 13 through 19, respectively.

■ 3. In § 94.9, a new paragraph (e) and a new footnote 12 are added and the OMB citation at the end of the section is revised to read as follows:

§ 94.9 Pork and pork products from regions where classical swine fever exists.

* * * * *

(e) Uncooked pork or pork products that originated in a region considered to be free of classical swine fever (CSF) and are processed in a region where CSF exists may be imported into the United States under the following conditions:

(1) Shipment to approved establishments. (i) The uncooked pork or pork products must be shipped from the CSF-free region of origin in closed containers sealed with serially numbered seals applied by an official of the national government of that region. They must be accompanied by a certificate that is signed by an official of that region's national government and that specifies the product's region of origin, the name and number of the establishment of origin, and the processing establishment to which the uncooked pork or pork products are consigned, and the numbers of the seals applied to the shipping containers.

(ii) The uncooked pork or pork products may be removed from containers at the processing establishment in the region where CSF is considered to exist only after an official of that region's national government has determined that the seals are intact and free of any evidence of tampering.

(2) Handling of uncooked pork and pork products. Establishments¹² in regions where CSF is considered to exist that process uncooked pork or pork products for export to the United States:

(i) May not receive or handle any live swine;

(ii) May not receive, handle, or process uncooked pork or pork products that originate in regions affected with CSF;

(iii) Must keep the certificate required by paragraph (e)(1)(i) of this section on file at the facility for a period of at least 2 years after export of processed products to the United States, and must make those records available to USDA inspectors during inspections; and (iv) Must be evaluated and approved by APHIS through a site inspection.

(3) Compliance agreement. The operators of the processing establishment must sign a compliance agreement with APHIS, stating that:

(i) All meat processed for importation to the United States will be processed in accordance with the requirements of this part; and

(ii) A full-time, salaried meat inspection official of the national government of the region in which the processing facility is located will supervise the processing and examination of the product, and certify that it has been processed in accordance with this section; and

(iii) APHIS personnel or other persons authorized by the Administrator may enter the establishment, unannounced, to inspect the establishment and its records.

(4) Cooperative service agreement. The processing establishment, or a party on its behalf, must enter into a cooperative service agreement with APHIS to pay all expenses incurred by APHIS for the initial evaluation of the processing establishment and periodically thereafter, including travel, salary, subsistence, administrative overhead, and other incidental expenses, including excess baggage up to 150 pounds. In accordance with the terms of the cooperative service agreement, before the APHIS representative's site inspection, the operator of the processing establishment or the party acting on their behalf must deposit with the Administrator an amount equal to the approximate cost of one inspection by an APHIS representative, including travel, salary, subsistence, administrative overhead, and other incidental expenses, including excess baggage up to 150 pounds. As funds from that amount are obligated, a bill for costs incurred based on official accounting records will be issued to restore the deposit to the original level, revised as necessary to allow for inflation or other changes in estimated costs. To be current, bills must be paid within 14 days of receipt.

(5) Shipment to the United States. Uncooked pork or pork products to be imported into the United States must be shipped from the region where they were processed in closed containers sealed with serially numbered seals applied by an official of the national government of that region. The shipments must be accompanied by a certificate signed by an official of the national government of the region where the pork or pork products were processed that lists the numbers of the seals applied and states that all of the conditions of this paragraph (e) have been met. The certificate shall also state that the container seals specified in paragraph (e)(1)(i) and (ii) of this section were found by an official of the region's national government to be intact and free of any evidence of tampering on arrival at the processing establishment in the CSF-affected region. A copy of this certificate must be kept on file at the processing establishment for at least 2 years.

BILLING CODE 3410–34-P

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

12 CFR Part 268

[Docket No. OP–1264]

Rules Regarding Equal Opportunity

AGENCY: Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (the Board) has adopted a final rule that amends the section of its Rules Regarding Equal Opportunity (EEO Rules) which governs the employment of persons who are not United States citizens consistent with the Board's requirements for the security of its information. The amendment to this rule was first published on November 8, 2005, as an immediately effective interim rule with opportunity for public comment. The Board received no comments on the rule. On its own initiative, to address additional operational issues, the Board made further changes to the rule and on August 7, 2006, published a new immediately effective interim rule with opportunity for public comment. The Board received no comments on the rule. With the changes discussed below, the Board is now adopting the August 7, 2006, interim rule as the final rule.

DATES: This final rule is effective April 2, 2008.

Alicia S. Foster, Senior Counsel (202–452–5289), Legal Division, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, 20th Street and Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20551. For users of Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) only, contact 202–263–4869.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On November 8, 2005, by an immediately effective interim rule (70 FR 67641), the Board amended § 268.205 to permit the Board to hire certain Non-Citizens into positions requiring access to information of the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC), subject to particular conditions and a preference for U.S. citizens over equally qualified non-citizens.¹ The Board received no comments on the November 2005 interim rule. After the Board published the November 2005 interim rule and before the Board published the rule in final form, however, it became apparent that the hiring pressures that affected positions requiring access to FOMC Information and prompted the change in the EEO Rules also existed with respect to certain positions requiring access to Confidential Supervisory Information, a second category of Sensitive Information. Therefore, on August 7, 2006, the Board published a new interim rule (71 FR 44555) that extended the hiring requirements that apply to FOMC Information to Confidential Supervisory Information and made some additional modifications that apply to access to FOMC and Confidential Supervisory Information. The 60-day comment period for the interim rule ended on October 6, 2006. The Board received no comments on the August 2006 interim rule. With the changes noted below, the Board is now adopting the August 2006 interim rule as the final rule.

The Board is making three substantive changes to the August 2006 interim rule. First, the Board is amending § 268.205(a)(9)(iii), which applies only to persons who were employed by the Federal Reserve as of January 1, 2006, and permits an employee who is a lawfully admitted permanent resident alien, an alien lawfully admitted for temporary resident, a refugee, or person granted asylum to qualify as a Protected Individual for purposes of the Board's rule even if he or she filed for citizenship beyond the six-month period set forth in 8 U.S.C. 1324b(a)(3)(B)(i). In addition to the requirements set out in the interim rule for persons in this category, the final rule is amended to reflect the current policy of the Board that these employees complete a satisfactory background check. Thus, the Board is amending § 268.205(a)(9)(iii) to add a new paragraph (E) that expressly requires that an employee may qualify under this section only if he or she also passes a background investigation acceptable to the Board. Because of the addition of this new paragraph, which is now the last paragraph in this section, punctuation changes are also being made to existing paragraphs (C) and (D).

Second, the Board is modifying § 268.205(c)(4)(i) of the interim rule, which addresses access by Reserve Bank employees to FOMC Information, to clarify the interplay between the § 268.205 rule and the separate rules of the FOMC. The FOMC's rules now apply the Board's rule under § 268.205 to access to FOMC information by non-citizens employed anywhere in the Federal Reserve System, and the Board has amended § 268.205(c)(4)(i) to reflect this action.

Third, the Board is amending the rule to include a new paragraph, § 268.205(c)(5), addressing exceptions to the rule's requirements as they apply to access to Confidential Supervisory Information. The Board believes this new exception is necessary to cover unusual, unforeseen situations that may arise. Because the need for an exception should rarely arise, however, the exception is very narrow. To be granted an exception, the requester must demonstrate that unusual circumstances exist and that the employee for whom access is being requested has a strong and particularized need for access to the Confidential Supervisory Information. All exceptions for access to Confidential Supervisory Information must be approved by the Chairman of the Board's Committee on Supervisory and Regulatory Affairs. A similar provision is not necessary for FOMC Information because the rules of the FOMC delineate when exceptions, including those on the basis of citizenship may be granted, for access to FOMC Information by Board and Reserve Bank employees and others. As a result of this new paragraph (5), the existing paragraph (c)(5) has been redesignated as paragraph (c)(6).

Finally, the Board is making editorial corrections to the phrases "appropriations laws" and the "appropriations ban" as referenced in the definition of "Country List" at § 268.205(a)(3).

Final Regulatory Flexibility Act Analysis

The Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96–354, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), generally requires an agency to perform an assessment of the impact a rule is expected to have on small entities. However, under section 605(b) of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA), 5 U.S.C. 605(b), the regulatory flexibility analysis otherwise required under section 604 of the RFA is not required if an agency certifies, along with a statement providing the factual basis for such certification, that the rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Because this rule governs the Board's dealings with its employees and applicants for employment and access to FOMC and Confidential Supervisory Information by Reserve Bank employees, and would not affect small entities as defined for purposes of the RFA, the Board certifies that the rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

Paperwork Reduction Act

In accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. ch. 3506; 5 CFR 1320 Appendix A.1), the Board reviewed the rule under the authority delegated to the Board by the Office of Management and Budget. No collections of information pursuant to the Paperwork Reduction Act are contained in this rule.

Plain Language

Section 722 of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act requires each federal banking agency to use plain language in all rules published after January 1, 2000. The Board has attempted to use plain language in drafting this rule. In the interim proposals, the Board invited comments on whether it could take additional steps to make the rule easier to understand. The Board received no comments on § 268.205.
