

and type designation—estimated at approximately 100 COLAs— would be revoked by operation of regulation. The existing COLAs using “Pisco” or “Pisco brandy” would not fit into either the “Pisco Perú” or the “Pisco Chileno (Chilean Pisco)” type designation, and these COLAs would not comply with TTB’s regulations without the broader, overall type designation for “Pisco.” TTB does not believe that such a disruption to the trade is warranted. TTB also notes that consumers will easily be able to identify the country of origin of any Pisco product because under 27 CFR 5.32(b)(2), imported distilled spirits product labels must include the country of origin.

Clarification of the Regulatory Language

DISCUS, in response to Notice No. 127, which proposed a standard of identity for Cachaça, questioned the wording of that proposed standard of identity. In Notice No. 127, TTB proposed to define Cachaça as “a type of rum that is a distinctive product of Brazil, manufactured in Brazil in compliance with the laws of Brazil regulating the manufacture of Cachaça for consumption in that country” (emphasis added). DISCUS commented that the highlighted language could inadvertently cause confusion as to whether a product that is produced in full conformity with Brazil’s regulations governing the manufacture of Cachaça for consumption in Brazil and bottled at less than 40 percent alcohol by volume could be labeled and sold in the United States as “Cachaça.” DISCUS also noted that deleting this language would be consistent with TTB Notice No. 126, Standards of Identity for Pisco and Cognac.

TTB believes that including the phrase “for consumption in that country” is appropriate for both Cachaça and Pisco because the wording clarifies that the laws of the country of manufacture cannot provide standards that are different for products being exported than for products to be consumed within the country of manufacture. TTB inadvertently omitted this phrase in its proposed standard of identity for Pisco in Notice No. 126, and believes, for clarity, that the phrase should be included in the final rule text. However, such a requirement does not override the current practice, described above, that “Pisco” products imported into the United States from Chile or Peru containing less than 40 percent alcohol by volume must be labeled as “diluted Pisco” or as a distilled spirits specialty product bearing a statement of composition.

TTB Finding

After careful review of the comments discussed above, and after consideration of the obligations incurred in the international agreements, TTB has determined that it is appropriate to adopt the proposed regulatory amendments contained in Notice No. 126, with the two modifications (the clarification that Pisco need not be aged in oak containers, and the addition of the phrases “for consumption in the country of manufacture” and “for consumption in that country,”) as discussed above. TTB notes that these regulatory changes will revoke by operation of regulation any COLAs that specify “Pisco” as the class and type or, brand name, or fanciful name of distilled spirits products that are not products of Peru or Chile.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

Pursuant to the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. chapter 6), TTB certifies that this final rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. These amendments clarify the status of Pisco under the standards of identity for distilled spirits and do not impose, or otherwise cause, a significant increase in reporting, recordkeeping, or other compliance burdens on a substantial number of small entities. Accordingly, a regulatory flexibility analysis is not required.

Executive Order 12866

This final rule is not a significant regulatory action as defined by Executive Order 12866. Therefore, it requires no regulatory assessment.
