AGENCY: Federal Trade Commission (FTC).

ACTION: Notice of extension of public comment period.

SUMMARY: The FTC is soliciting public comments on proposed information requests to Patent Assertion Entities (“PAEs”) asserting patents in a variety of sectors, as well as a group of other entities asserting patents specifically in the wireless communications sector, including manufacturers and other non-practicing entities and organizations engaged in licensing. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On September 27, 2013, the Commission announced that it would seek public comments on a proposal to gather information from approximately 25 companies known as Patent Assertion Entities (“PAEs”), along with 15 other entities asserting patents specifically in the wireless communications sector. For purposes of this notice, PAEs are firms with a business model based primarily on purchasing patents and then attempting to generate revenue by asserting the intellectual property against persons who are already practicing the patented technology.¹ A notice containing the proposed information requests and seeking public comment was published in the Federal Register on October 3, 2013.² The Commission intends to use this information to add to the existing literature and evidence on PAE activity. These comments will be considered before the FTC submits a request for Office of Management and Budget review of the compulsory process orders described in this notice under the Paperwork Reduction Act. The compulsory process orders will seek information from firms concerning, among other things, patent acquisition, litigation, and licensing practices.

The Commission has now determined to extend the public comment period until December 16, 2013. The Commission will not consider requests for further extension. You may file a comment online or on paper, and the content of the comment should conform to the requirements detailed in the October 3, 2013 Federal Register Notice.
