History and Description of the Remains

Prior to 1950, human remains representing, at minimum, one individual were removed from an unknown location within Wupatki National Monument in Coconino County, AZ. The right calcaneus of a three-to-five year old individual was misidentified as faunal until 2018 when faunal analysts from Northern Arizona University correctly identified the bone as human, sex-indeterminate. The remains were found in a box labeled with several different archeological sites, making it difficult to determine exact provenience. No known individuals were identified. No associated funerary objects are present.
