

• General Records Schedule (GRS) 2.2 Employee Management Records, Item 080, supervisor's personnel files (these include employee medical documents until replaced by the agency's accommodation decision, and exclude records that become part of a grievance file, an appeal or discrimination complaint file, a performance-based reduction-in-grade or removal action, or an adverse action, which are governed by GRS 2.3 Employee Relations Records): Review annually and destroy superseded documents. Destroy remaining documents one year after employee separation or transfer.

• GRS 2.3 Employee Relations Records, Item 020, reasonable accommodation case files: Destroy three years after employee separation from the agency or after all appeals are concluded, whichever is later, but longer retention is authorized if required for business use.

Accommodation records about federal contractors are retained and disposed of in accordance with the following disposition authority:

• GRS 2.3 Employee Relations Records, Item 120, records documenting contractor compliance with EEO regulations: Destroy when 7 years old, but longer retention is authorized if required for business use.

Accommodation records about HHS visitors who are neither federal employees nor federal contractors are currently unscheduled and will be retained indefinitely until authorized for disposition under a schedule approved by the National Archives and Records Administration.

ADMINISTRATIVE, TECHNICAL, AND PHYSICAL SAFEGUARDS:

Safeguards conform to the HHS Information Security and Privacy Program, <https://www.hhs.gov/ocio/securityprivacy/index.html>, including the HHS Information Security and Privacy Policy (IS2P), which ensures that information is safeguarded in accordance with applicable federal laws, rules, and policies, including: 44 U.S.C. 3541 through 3549 and 3551 through 3558; all pertinent National Institutes of Standards and Technology (NIST) publications; and OMB Circular A-130, Managing Information as a Strategic Resource, 81 FR 49689 (July 28, 2016).

Records are protected from unauthorized access through appropriate administrative, physical, and technical safeguards. These safeguards include protecting the facilities where records are received and electronically stored with security guards, identification badges, and cameras; securing any hard copies in locked file cabinets, file rooms or offices during off-duty hours; requiring contractors to maintain appropriate safeguards and to comply with the Privacy Act with respect to the records; limiting authorized users' access to electronic records based on role and either two-factor authentication or password protection; requiring passwords to be complex and to be changed frequently; using a secured operating system protected by encryption, firewalls, and intrusion detection systems; maintaining an activity log of users' access; requiring encryption for any records stored or accessed on removable media; training personnel in Privacy Act and information security requirements; and reviewing security controls on an ongoing basis.

To control and limit access, use, and disclosure of the records appropriately, HHS may maintain disability-based accommodation records in or with other confidential medical files about the same individual, or otherwise separately from other types of records about the same individual, to the extent possible. Likewise, to the extent possible, HHS maintains religious accommodation records about an individual separately from other types of records about the individual.

RECORD ACCESS PROCEDURES:

Individuals may request access to records about them in this system of records by submitting a written access request to the System Manager identified in the "System Manager" section of this SORN. The request must contain the requester's full name, home or work address, date of birth, signature, and assigned case identification number (if any) and must identify the employing or hiring component pertinent to the request. To verify the requester's identity, the signature must be notarized or the request must include the requester's written certification that the requester is the individual who the requester claims to be and that the requester understands that the knowing and willful request for or acquisition of a record pertaining to an individual under false pretenses is a criminal offense subject to a fine of up to $5,000. To access the records in person, the requester should make an appointment, and may be accompanied by a person of the requester's choosing if the requester provides written authorization for agency personnel to discuss the records in that person's presence. An individual may also request an accounting of disclosures that have been made of the records, if any.

CONTESTING RECORD PROCEDURES:

Individuals may seek to amend records about them in this system of records by submitting an amendment request to the System Manager identified in the "System Manager" section of this SORN, containing the same information required for an access request. The request must include verification of the requester's identity in the same manner required for an access request; must reasonably identify the record and specify the information contested, the corrective action sought, and the reasons for requesting the correction; and should include supporting information to show how the record is not accurate, complete, timely, or relevant.

NOTIFICATION PROCEDURES:

Individuals who wish to know if this system of records contains records about them should submit a notification request to the System Manager identified in the "System Manager" section of this SORN. The request must contain the same information required for an access request and must include verification of the requester's identity in the same manner required for an access request.
