

17. Other than investments, are there any incentives that could be offered to encourage more effective incorporation of climate-related financial risks into TSP, using the regulatory authority delegated to the Secretary or other administrative authorities under FERSA?

18. Some material suggests that when plan participants know their plan offers ESG options, many will invest in them. See, e.g., ESG Options in 401(k) Plans Could Lead to Higher Contribution Rates According to Schroders Survey, (May 13, 2021), available at <https://www.schroders.com/en/us/private-investor/media-centre/retirement-survey-2021-esg/> (when plan participants know their plan offers ESG options, 90% invest in them). In a 2017 survey of TSP participants, twenty-two percent of respondents said they most want the TSP to offer a broader range of investment options. See Federal Retirement Thrift Investment Board: 2017 Participant Satisfaction Survey, P. 11, fig. 8 (2017) available at <https://www.frtib.gov/ReadingRoom/SurveysPart/TSP-Survey-Results-2017.pdf>. Are there additional data suggesting, measuring, or otherwise indicating whether federal employees' prefer ESG-focused investments?

Miscellaneous

19. Are there any legal or regulatory impediments that hinder managers of investments held in savings and retirement arrangements not covered by ERISA, such as IRAs, from taking steps to mitigate against climate-related financial risks to those investments? Does the absence of prudence and loyalty obligations with respect to these arrangements leave them vulnerable to climate-related financial risks?

20. Should EBSA sponsor and publish research to improve data and analytics that ERISA plan fiduciaries could use to evaluate climate-related financial risks? If so, what research subjects should EBSA sponsor?

21. Is there a need to educate participants, especially those responsible for making their own investment decisions in participant-directed individual account plans, about climate-related financial risks? If yes, what role, if any, should EBSA play in sponsoring and providing such education? In addition, what efforts, if any, should EBSA make to coordinate with the Securities and Exchange Commission on its efforts to inform and protect investors, especially individual investors such as plan participants, from potentially misleading statements about fund adherence to policies that address climate-related financial risk (often referred to as "greenwashing")?<sup>15</sup>

22. Is there a need to educate owners of IRAs about climate-related financial risks? If yes, what role, if any, should EBSA play in assisting the IRS or States (for those having state automatic-IRA arrangements) in sponsoring and providing such education?

Signed at Washington, DC, this 4th day of February, 2022.
