Background

The California tiger salamander was listed as threatened on August 8, 2004 (69 FR 47212), and the California red-legged frog was listed as threatened on May 23, 1996 (61 FR 25813). Section 9 of the ESA prohibits the “take” of fish or wildlife species listed as endangered. Pursuant to section 4(d) of the ESA, the take prohibition was extended by regulation to certain threatened species, including, as applicable here, the California tiger salamander and California red-legged frog. “Take” is defined under the ESA to include the following activities: “to harass, harm, pursue, hunt, shoot, wound, kill, trap, capture, or collect, or to attempt to engage in any such conduct” (16 U.S.C. 1532); however, under section 10(a)(1)(B) of the ESA, we may issue permits to authorize incidental take of listed species. Incidental take is take that is incidental to, and not the purpose of, carrying out of an otherwise lawful activity. Issuance of an ITP also must not jeopardize the existence of federally listed fish, wildlife, or plant species, pursuant to section 7 of the ESA and 50 CFR 402.02. The permittee would receive assurances under our “No Surprises” regulations (50 CFR 17.22(b)(5)).

Applicants’ Proposed Activities

The applicants have applied for a 10-year-term permit for incidental take of the California tiger salamander and the California red-legged frog. The take would occur in association with the construction of a single-family home and associated activities, such as vegetation removal, site grubbing, and grading for proposed development. The proposed development, including the home, infrastructure, driveway improvements, utility expansions, detached underground guest suite, underground garage and utility room, an equipment room, retaining wall and patios, and all associated disturbance areas, would be sited on approximately 2.39 acres (ac) of the 265-ac property. Approximately 2.60 ac would be temporarily impacted and would be restored to pre-construction conditions. To mitigate the effects of permanent impacts and the taking of California tiger salamander and the California red-legged frog, the applicants propose to purchase 9.56 ac of credits at the Sparling Ranch Conservation Bank in Santa Clara and San Benito Counties.

The HCP includes avoidance and minimization measures for the California tiger salamander and the California red-legged frog and mitigation for unavoidable loss of habitat. The applicants’ conservation strategy includes an on-site re-vegetation plan to restore temporarily impacted habitat suitable for California tiger salamanders and California red-legged frogs through removal of nonnative plants, planting and seeding of locally occurring native grassland species, and a monitoring program that describes monitoring efforts and contingency plans if success criteria are not met.
