Abstract: The Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act (ANILCA) provides the opportunity for qualified rural residents to harvest subsistence resources in national parks, preserves and monuments in Alaska. Under the provisions of ANILCA, subsistence harvests by local rural residents are considered to be the priority consumptive use of park resources. This collection will gather traditional use information on subsistence harvest patterns, specifically Dall's sheep (Ovis dalli) in the southern Brooks Range, within Gates of the Arctic National Park and Preserve (GAAR). This project will be a collaborative practice of research that will include in-person interviews with sheep hunters living in the Alaska Native villages of Alatna and Allakaket. This collection will provide a better understanding about the experiences of local subsistence harvesters and the importance of cultural and traditional knowledge regarding Dall's Sheep.
