2. Overview

I. Introduction

A. Purpose

With the approval of the service acquisition executive of the military department concerned, the STRLs may fill a specified number of positions using an enhanced pay authority in order to assist the military departments in attracting and retaining high-quality acquisition and technology experts in positions responsible for managing and performing complex, high-cost, research and technology development efforts in the STRLs.

B. Required Waivers to Law and Regulation

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 4121(a)(3), the Secretary of Defense is not limited by any lack of specific authority under 5 U.S.C., or any inconsistent provision of 5 U.S.C., related to prescribing the method of classifying positions and compensating or incentivizing employees. Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 4121(a)(5), the pay limitations in 5 U.S.C. 5373, do not apply to the authority of the Secretary to prescribe salary schedules and other related benefits. Waivers and adaptations of any 5 U.S.C., provision and any rule or regulation prescribed under this title are required only to the extent that these statutory and regulatory provisions limit or are inconsistent with the actions authorized herein.

C. Participating Organizations and Employees

All DoD laboratories designated as STRLs by 10 U.S.C. 4121(b), as well as any additional laboratories designated as STRLs by SECDEF, with approved personnel demonstration project plans published in FRNs, may use the provisions described in this FRN.

II. Personnel System Changes

A. Description and Implementation

This authority may be used only to the extent necessary to competitively recruit or retain individuals exceptionally well qualified for positions as described herein. This authority may only be used for a total of 20 STRL positions across all DoD Components at any one time. Each Military Department may use the authority for up to five positions unless the USD(R&E) authorizes its use for additional positions.

The enhanced pay authority may be carried out only with approval of the service acquisition executive of the military department concerned. Implementation, as described herein, may be delegated to the STRL commander/director.

The positions eligible under this authority are positions that:

- Require expertise of an extremely high level in a scientific, technical, professional, or acquisition management field; and
- Are critical to the successful accomplishment of an important research or technology development mission.

The service acquisition executive of the military department concerned may approve a rate of basic pay up to 150 percent of the rate of basic pay payable for Level I of the Executive Schedule. Upon approval of the secretary of the military department concerned, the rate of basic pay may be fixed at a rate in excess of 150 percent of the rate of basic pay payable for Level I of the Executive Schedule.

The position classification document will describe the important, regular and recurring duties and responsibilities assigned to the position. Positions classified under this authority are in the competitive service, are above a grade equivalent to GS-15, and are in the AD (administratively determined) pay plan. Classification authority for these positions resides with the STRL Director.

Public notice or other recognized recruitment sources (e.g. recruiter/headhunter, STRL website, professional journal publication, etc.) will be used to advertise positions approved for use of this authority. Applicable direct hire authorities may be used to appoint candidates.

Qualified individuals are those individuals who meet the minimum education requirements for the position as published in the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) operating manual, "Qualification Standards for General Schedule Positions", and who possess high-level experience managing and performing complex, high-cost research and technology development efforts.

Appointments using this authority will be temporary or term appointments. Temporary appointments are for a period of less than one year. Term appointments are for a period of more than one year and less than five years in duration. The first two years of a new term appointment will serve as the employee's trial period. Individuals appointed under this authority are eligible for employee programs and benefits comparable to those provided to similar employees at each STRL.

An employee appointed to a position using this authority may receive annual and/or merit pay increases, provided the rate of basic pay does not exceed 150 percent of the rate of basic pay payable for Level I of the Executive Schedule or the increased rate of basic pay is approved by the secretary of the military department concerned. Rates of basic pay established under this authority may be adjusted without higher level approval by the same percentage rate authorized in the annual pay adjustment for Level I of the Executive Schedule, as provided in an Executive Order or an act of Congress. Recruitment, relocation and retention incentives may be utilized in order to attract and retain individuals possessing the caliber of experience required of these positions. The aggregate limitation on pay in 5 U.S.C. 5307, is waived to permit payment of allowances, differentials, bonuses, awards or other similar cash payments when such payments would cause the total pay (basic pay and other cash payments) in a calendar year to exceed Level I of the Executive Schedule. Each STRL will document pay setting criteria in internal operating procedures.

Each STRL will develop performance plans to evaluate individuals appointed using this pay authority.

(a) The performance plan will identify performance/contribution factors that identify the successful outcomes of the organization's strategic goals and the position's assigned duties.

(b) The performance plan may provide a means for merit pay increases.

(c) Each STRL will determine the appropriate performance appraisal period under its respective appraisal program for individuals evaluated under this pay authority.

Appointments are documented citing the legal authority code (LAC)/legal authority used to appoint the individual (e.g., STRL direct hire authority) and Z2U/10 U.S.C. 4121. Grade and step are documented as "00". Current Federal employees may be converted to a term appointment for up to five years.

B. Evaluation

Procedures for evaluating this authority will be incorporated into the STRL demonstration project evaluation processes conducted by the STRLs, OUSD(R&E), or specific military department headquarters, as appropriate.

C. Reports

STRLs will track and provide information and data on the use of this authority when requested by the Component headquarters or OUSD(R&E).

Dated: June 27, 2022.

Alternate OSD Federal Register Liaison Officer, Department of Defense.
