

States: (1) they must be compliant with the FMVSS, and (2) they must be certified as compliant by a manufacturer exercising reasonable care.²⁴

“Manufacturer” means a person manufacturing or assembling motor vehicles or motor vehicle equipment, or importing motor vehicles or motor vehicle equipment for resale.²⁵ Second, as previously stated, a manufacturer may choose any means of evaluating its products to determine whether the vehicle or equipment will comply with the safety standards when tested by the agency according to the procedures specified in the standard. In this case, it appears that CTP fully and solely relied on its supplier to produce webbing compliant with S5.4.1.2(b)(1) of FMVSS No. 213. While this may be legally permitted, as the distributor whose name appears on the child restraint system, CTP accepted certification responsibility of the subject child restraint systems, and ultimately is accountable for it.

CTP claims it has implemented replacement adjuster webbing on newly manufactured child restraints beginning October 27, 2021, and that this webbing complies with all retained breaking strength requirements after having been subjected to both hex bar and resistance to buckle abrasion testing. In its petition, CTP attached Exhibit A²⁶ in support of its claim that child restraints with webbing manufactured in 2021 were verified to be compliant with FMVSS No. 213 S5.4.1.2(b)(1). Exhibit A contained portions of the January 14, 2022, OVSC test report²⁷ for FMVSS No. 213 Component Tests for Aton M models tested as part of its FY2021 compliance program. The date of manufacture of the Aton M models tested in that report was 11/26/2020. NHTSA does not consider CTP’s Exhibit A to be relevant to its petition because it did not apply to the child restraint systems that were the subject of its petition.

VIII. NHTSA’s Decision: In consideration of the foregoing, NHTSA has decided that CTP has not met its burden of persuasion that the subject FMVSS No. 213 noncompliance is inconsequential to motor vehicle safety. Accordingly, CTP’s petition is hereby denied, and CTP is consequently obligated to provide notification of and free remedy for that noncompliance under 49 U.S.C. 30118 and 30120.
