

13132 are not mandatory for final approval decisions under the OSH Act because they neither impose a burden upon the State nor involve preemption of any State law, OSHA has nonetheless consulted extensively with Oregon on the matter of final approval as to temporary labor camps.

VI. Regulatory Flexibility Act

OSHA certifies pursuant to the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.) that this final approval determination will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Final approval of Oregon's temporary labor camps coverage does not place small employers in Oregon under any new or different requirements, nor does it add any additional burden upon the State government beyond the responsibilities already assumed as part of the approved Plan.
