

have not established a safe level for a residue from the extralabel use of any new animal drug and, therefore, have not required the development of analytical methodology, we believe that there may be instances when analytical methodology will be required. We are, therefore, estimating the reporting burden based on two methods being required annually. The requirement to establish an analytical method may be fulfilled by any interested person. We believe that the sponsor of the drug will be willing to develop the method in most cases. Alternatively, FDA, the sponsor, and perhaps a third party may cooperatively arrange for method development. The respondents may be sponsors of new animal drugs, State, or Federal and/or State Agencies, academia, or individuals.

We estimate the burden of this collection of information as follows:

TABLE 1—ESTIMATED ANNUAL REPORTING BURDEN¹

21 CFR Part; activity	Number of respondents	Number of responses per respondent	Total annual responses	Average burden per response	Total hours
530.22(b); Submission(s) of analytical method	2	1	2	4,160	8,320

¹ There are no capital costs or operating and maintenance costs associated with this collection of information.

Based on a review of the information collection since our last request for OMB approval, we have made no adjustments to our burden estimate.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA or Agency) is announcing the availability of a final guidance for industry entitled “Considerations for the Use of Real-World Data and Real-World Evidence to Support Regulatory Decision-Making for Drug and Biological Products.” FDA is issuing this guidance as part of its Real-World Evidence (RWE) Program for drugs and to satisfy, in part, the mandate under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act) to issue guidance about the use of RWE in regulatory decision making. This guidance discusses the applicability of FDA’s investigational new drug application (IND) regulations to various clinical study designs that utilize real-world data (RWD) and clarifies the Agency’s expectations regarding clinical studies using RWD submitted to FDA in support of a regulatory decision regarding the effectiveness or safety of a drug that are not subject to the IND regulations. This guidance finalizes the draft guidance of the same title issued on December 9, 2021.

DATES: The announcement of the guidance is published in the Federal Register on August 31, 2023.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a guidance for industry entitled “Considerations for the Use of Real-World Data and Real-World Evidence to Support Regulatory Decision-Making for Drug and Biological Products.” The guidance discusses the following major topics: (1) applicability of 21 CFR part 312 to studies using RWD and (2) regulatory considerations for non-interventional (observational) studies involving the use of RWD. Regulatory considerations addressed by the guidance include the following: (1) transparency for data collection and analysis, (2) access to RWD, (3) study monitoring, (4) safety reporting, (5) other sponsor responsibilities, and (6) the analysis of RWD generated from the use of a product under an emergency use authorization (EUA) in routine practice.

Section 3022 of the 21st Century Cures Act (Cures Act) of 2016 amended the FD&C Act to add section 505F, Utilizing Real World Evidence (21 U.S.C. 355g), which requires FDA to issue guidance about the use of RWE in regulatory decision-making. In addition, under the Prescription Drug User Fee Amendments of 2017 (PDUFA VI), FDA is committed to publish draft guidance on how RWE can contribute to the assessment of safety and effectiveness in regulatory submissions. In 2018, FDA created an RWE Framework and an RWE Program to evaluate the potential use of RWE to help support the approval of a new indication for a drug already approved under the FD&C Act or to help support or satisfy postapproval study requirements. In late 2021, FDA utilized the RWE Program to issue draft guidances outlining considerations for the use of RWD and RWE in regulatory decision making to satisfy the Cures Act mandate and the PDUFA VI commitment.

This guidance finalizes the draft guidance of the same title issued on December 9, 2021 (86 FR 70131). FDA considered comments received on the draft guidance as the guidance was finalized. Changes from the draft to the final guidance include transfer of relevant definitions from the glossary to the text as well as additional language about data generated in clinical practice for products used under an EUA consistent with a mandate under the Food and Drug Omnibus Reform Act of 2022. Clarifying information was also added, including the use of existing regulatory pathways for third parties to provide patient-level data to FDA when a sponsor cannot submit such data to FDA through traditional channels. In addition, editorial changes were made to improve clarity.

This guidance is being issued consistent with FDA’s good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The guidance represents the current thinking of FDA on “Considerations for the Use of Real-World Data and Real-World Evidence to Support Regulatory Decision-Making for Drug and Biological Products.” It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.

II. Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

While this guidance contains no collection of information, it does refer to previously approved FDA collections of information. The previously approved collections of information are subject to review by Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (PRA) (44 U.S.C. 3501-3521). The collections of information in 21 CFR parts 50 and 56 relating to protection of human subjects and Institutional Review Boards have been approved under OMB control number 0910-0130. The collections of information in 21 CFR part 310 relating to postmarketing adverse drug experience reporting have been approved under OMB control number 0910-0230. The collections of information in 21 CFR part 600 for general records and postmarketing adverse experience reporting pertaining to biological products have been approved under OMB control number 0910-0308. The collections of information in 21 CFR parts 310, 314, and 600 pertaining to adverse event and product experience reporting have been approved under OMB control number 0910-0291. The collections of information in 21 CFR part 312 have been approved under OMB control number 0910-0014. The collections of information in 21 CFR part 314 have been approved under OMB control number 0910-0001.
