

such as repeatedly emphasizing that she had been trying to prevent UC from taking illicit controlled substances. RD, at 24–25.

When a registrant fails to make the threshold showing of acceptance of responsibility, the Agency need not address the registrant's remedial measures. Ajay S. Ahuja, M.D., 84 FR 5479, 5498 n.33 (2019) (citing Jones Total Health Care Pharmacy, L.L.C. & SND Health Care, L.L.C., 81 FR 79188, 79202–03 (2016)); Daniel A. Glick, D.D.S., 80 FR 74800, 74801, 74810 (2015). Even so, in the current matter, the Agency agrees with the ALJ that although Respondent indicated that she has obtained her post-master's certification to treat psychiatric and mental health conditions as well as completed two additional courses, one regarding safely and effectively prescribing controlled substances in Florida and the other regarding the laws and rules governing nursing in Florida, "these measures are inadequate in the face of her actions." RD, at 25.

In addition to acceptance of responsibility, the Agency considers both specific and general deterrence when determining an appropriate sanction. Daniel A. Glick, D.D.S., 80 FR 74810. In this case, the Agency agrees with the ALJ that revocation will remind practitioners that a prescriber is independently responsible for the prescriptions that he or she issues. RD, at 27. Regarding Respondent in particular, "[a]ny sanction short of revocation would fail to deter Respondent from ignoring red flags of diversion and prescribing controlled substances for other than legitimate medical purposes." Id. Moreover, the Agency agrees with the ALJ that Respondent's actions were egregious because Respondent knowingly recorded two false diagnoses when she documented ADHD and GAD to justify prescribing UC Adderall and Klonopin despite no medical justification for issuing the two prescriptions and in the face of obvious signs of diversion. RD, at 26–27.

In sum, Respondent has not offered any credible evidence on the record to rebut the Government's case for revocation of her registration and Respondent has not demonstrated that she can be entrusted with the responsibility of registration. RD, at 27. Accordingly, the Agency will order that Respondent's registration be revoked.
