

II. Calculation of Fees

As discussed above, Congress directed TSA to collect user fees to cover the costs of its transportation vetting and credentialing programs.⁷ TSA must collect fees to pay for conducting all portions of an STA, including adjudicating the vetting results; administering the redress process, including requests for correction of records, appeals, and waivers; information technology development and maintenance; personnel; billing and collections; and any other costs related to administering the STA. The statute requires that any fee collected must be used only to pay for the costs incurred in providing services associated with the STA. The funds generated by the fee do not have a limited period of time in which they must be used; as fee revenue and service costs do not always match perfectly for a given period, a program may need to carry over funding from one fiscal year to the next to ensure that sufficient funds are available to continue normal program operations. TSA complies with applicable requirements, such as the Chief Financial Officers Act of 1990⁸ and Office of Management and Budget Circular A-25,⁹ and regularly reviews the fees to ensure they recover, but do not exceed, the full cost of services.

TSA established the methodology for calculating the vetting fees for the HME program were explained in detail in the preamble to the HME Fees Final Rule.¹⁰ In finalizing these HME methodologies, TSA considered comments from individual commercial drivers; labor organizations; trucking industry associations; State Departments of Motor Vehicles; associations representing the agricultural, chemical, explosives, maritime, and petroleum industries; and associations representing State governments. TSA has not changed the methodologies for determining these fees. TSA used that same methodology to evaluate the current HME fees and establish new fee amounts. See the Fee Development Report posted in the docket for additional details.

The new HME fees for STA applications for Non-Agent States are set forth below.

TABLE—COMPARISON OF CURRENT AND NEW HME FEES FOR NON-AGENT STATES BY ENROLLMENT TYPE

Non-agent state	Standard fee		Reduced fee
	Current	New	Current	New
	$ 34.00	$ 57.25	$ 29.00	$ 31.00

Applicants in Non-Agent States may also have to pay the fee the State has established to recover its costs to collect and transmit information and fees to TSA.
