SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Drug Price Competition and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1984 (Pub. L. 98–417) and the Generic Animal Drug and Patent Term Restoration Act (Pub. L. 100–670) generally provide that a patent may be extended for a period of up to 5 years so long as the patented item (human drug or biological product, animal drug product, medical device, food additive, or color additive) was subject to regulatory review by FDA before the item was marketed. Under these acts, a product’s regulatory review period forms the basis for determining the amount of extension an applicant may receive.

A regulatory review period consists of two periods of time: a testing phase and an approval phase. For human drug products, the testing phase begins when the exemption to permit the clinical investigations of the drug becomes effective and runs until the approval phase begins. The approval phase starts with the initial submission of an application to market the human drug product and continues until FDA grants permission to market the drug product. Although only a portion of a regulatory review period may count toward the actual amount of extension that the Director of USPTO may award (for example, half the testing phase must be subtracted as well as any time that may have occurred before the patent was issued), FDA's determination of the length of a regulatory review period for a human drug product will include all of the testing phase and approval phase as specified in 35 U.S.C. 156(g)(1)(B).

FDA has approved for marketing the human drug product, SEGLUROMET (ertugliflozin and metformin hydrochloride) indicated as an adjunct to diet and exercise to improve glycemic control in adults with type 2 diabetes mellitus who are not adequately controlled on a regimen containing ertugliflozin or metformin or in patients who are already treated with both ertugliflozin and metformin. Subsequent to this approval, the USPTO received patent term restoration application for SEGLUROMET (U.S. Patent Nos. 9,308,204 and 9,439,902) from Pfizer Inc., and the USPTO requested FDA's assistance in determining the patents' eligibility for patent term restoration. In a letter dated June 12, 2019, FDA advised the USPTO that this human drug product had undergone a regulatory review period and that the approval of SEGLUROMET represented the first permitted commercial marketing or use of the product. Thereafter, the USPTO requested that FDA determine the product's regulatory review period.

II. Determination of Regulatory Review Period

FDA has determined that the applicable regulatory review period for SEGLUROMET is 2,976 days. Of this time, 2,610 days occurred during the testing phase of the regulatory review period, while 366 days occurred during the approval phase. These periods of time were derived from the following dates:

1. The date an exemption under section 505(i) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act) (21 U.S.C. 355(i)) became effective: October 28, 2009. The applicant claims October 29, 2009, as the date the investigational new drug application (IND) became effective. However, FDA records indicate that the IND effective date was October 28, 2009, which was 30 days after FDA receipt of the IND.

2. The date the application was initially submitted with respect to the human drug product under section 505 of the FD&C Act: December 19, 2016. FDA has verified the applicant's claim that the new drug application (NDA) for SEGLUROMET (NDA 209806) was initially submitted on December 19, 2016.

3. The date the application was approved: December 19, 2017. FDA has verified the applicant's claim that NDA 209806 was approved on December 19, 2017.

This determination of the regulatory review period establishes the maximum potential length of a patent extension. However, the USPTO applies several statutory limitations in its calculations of the actual period for patent extension. In its applications for patent extension, this applicant seeks 415 days or 424 days of patent term extension.

III. Petitions

Anyone with knowledge that any of the dates as published are incorrect may submit either electronic or written comments and, under 21 CFR 60.24, ask for a redetermination (see DATES). Furthermore, as specified in § 60.30 (21 CFR 60.30), any interested person may petition FDA for a determination regarding whether the applicant for extension acted with due diligence during the regulatory review period. To meet its burden, the petition must comply with all the requirements of § 60.30, including but not limited to: must be timely (see DATES), must be filed in accordance with § 10.20, must contain sufficient facts to merit an FDA investigation, and must certify that a true and complete copy of the petition has been served upon the patent applicant. (See H. Rept. 857, part 1, 98th Cong., 2d sess., pp. 41–42, 1984.) Petitions should be in the format specified in 21 CFR 10.30.

Submit petitions electronically to <https://www.regulations.gov> at Docket No. FDA–2013–S–0610. Submit written petitions (two copies are required) to the Dockets Management Staff (HFA–305), Food and Drug Administration, 5630 Fishers Lane, Rm. 1061, Rockville, MD 20852.

Dated: September 3, 2024.

Associate Commissioner for Policy.

[Docket No. FDA–2015–D–1580]

Incorporating Voluntary Patient Preference Information Over the Total Product Life Cycle; Guidance for Industry, Food and Drug Administration Staff and Other Interested Parties; Availability

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Notice of availability.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA or Agency) is announcing the availability of the draft guidance entitled “Incorporating Voluntary Patient Preference Information over the Total Product Life Cycle.” This draft guidance explains the principal concepts that sponsors and other interested parties should consider when choosing to collect and submit patient preference information (PPI). The knowledge gleaned from the use of PPI could be used across the total product life cycle, including for review in investigational device exemption (IDE) applications, premarket approval (PMA) applications, humanitarian device exemption (HDE) applications, De Novo classification requests, or premarket notifications (510(k)s). This draft guidance also discusses FDA's inclusion of PPI in its decision summaries and provides recommendations for the inclusion of such information in device labeling for certain devices. This draft guidance is not final nor is it for implementation at this time.

DATES: Submit either electronic or written comments on the draft guidance by December 5, 2024 to ensure that the Agency considers your comment on this draft guidance before it begins work on the final version of the guidance.
