There were no changes to the Approved RMP from the Proposed RMP for BLM-administered lands, which was published on June 14, 2024. The Approved RMP allows the BLM to modify the visual resource classification for certain segments of the project, along with modification to the alignment of certain Section 368 corridor segments.

The BLM provided the Proposed RMP Amendment for a 30-day public protest period beginning on June 14, 2024, and at the end of the public protest period on July 15, 2024, six valid protests had been received. The BLM also received seven other comments which were not valid protests. The BLM Director resolved all protests. A copy of the Protest Resolution Report is available at: <https://www.blm.gov/programs/planning-and-nepa/public-participation/protest-resolution-reports>. No changes were made to the RMP Amendment as a result of these protests.

The BLM provided the Proposed RMP Amendment to the Governor of Nevada for a 60-day Governor's consistency review. On July 25, 2024, the Governor's Office responded to this request and determined that no inconsistencies with Nevada state plans were identified.

Approval of this ROW constitutes the final decision of the Department of the Interior (DOI) and, in accordance with the regulations at 43 CFR 4.410(a)(3), is not subject to appeal under DOI regulations at 43 CFR part 4.

Notice of Intended Repatriation: University of California, Berkeley, Berkeley CA

AGENCY: National Park Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: In accordance with the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), the University of California, Berkeley intends to repatriate a certain cultural item that meets the definition of a sacred object and an object of cultural patrimony and that has a cultural affiliation with the Indian Tribes or Native Hawaiian organizations in this notice.

DATES: Repatriation of the cultural item in this notice may occur on or after October 15, 2024.

ADDRESSES: Alexandra Lucas, Repatriation Coordinator, Government and Community Relations (Chancellor's Office), University of California, Berkeley, 200 California Hall, Berkeley, CA 94720, telephone (510) 570-0964, email nagpra-ucb@berkeley.edu.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This notice is published as part of the National Park Service's administrative responsibilities under NAGPRA. The determinations in this notice are the sole responsibility of the University of California, Berkeley, and additional information on the determinations in this notice, including the results of consultation, can be found in the summary or related records. The National Park Service is not responsible for the determinations in this notice.

Abstract of Information Available

A total of one cultural item has been requested for repatriation. The sacred object and object of cultural patrimony is a Kyôïñ (war shield) estimated to have been created in 1792 by Black

Horse (catalog number 2-4866a,b and formerly named Satanta's Shield). Black Horse passed guardianship of the Kyôïñ to his son Sét:t'áiñ:dè, who passed guardianship of the Kyôïñ to his son Grey Goose between 1872 and 1874. US Cavalry Captain Hugh Lenox Scott obtained the Kyôïñ from Grey Goose in 1894, purportedly through Grey Goose's will. Phoebe Apperson Hearst purchased the Kyôïñ along with 200 other Plains Indian objects from Hugh Knox in 1901. Kiowa people know the Kyôïñ to be the temporary residence of a spirit, and while cared for by individual caretakers entrusted by the Kyôïñ, as a spirit it cannot be individually owned. The Kyôïñ has held a vital ceremonial and protective role in the Kiowa Tribe of Oklahoma since its creation. Since 2000, the Kyôïñ has been on loan from the Phoebe A Hearst Museum of Anthropology to the U.S Army Fort Sill National Historic Landmark and Museum in Oklahoma to ensure its continued access by Kiowa people and inclusion in ceremony and cultural practice.

Collections and collection spaces at the Phoebe A Hearst Museum of Anthropology were treated with substances for preservation and pest control, some potentially hazardous. No records have been found to date at the Museum to indicate whether or not chemicals or natural substances were used prior to 1960. No chemicals are recorded to have been applied while on loan to the U.S. Army Fort Sill National Historic Landmark and Museum.

Determinations

The University of California, Berkeley has determined that:

- The one sacred object/object of cultural patrimony described in this notice is, according to the Native American traditional knowledge of an Indian Tribe or Native Hawaiian organization, a specific ceremonial object needed by a traditional Native American religious leader for present-day adherents to practice traditional Native American religion, and have ongoing historical, traditional, or cultural importance central to the Native American group, including any constituent sub-group (such as a band, clan, lineage, ceremonial society, or other subdivision).
- There is a reasonable connection between the cultural item described in this notice and the Kiowa Indian Tribe of Oklahoma.

Requests for Repatriation

Additional, written requests for repatriation of the cultural item in this notice must be sent to the authorized
