PENNSYLVANIA, ss:

CHARLES W. STONE,

Mr. Reyburn then presented himself before the Speaker's desk, escorted by Mr. O'NEILL, of Pennsylvania, and was duly qualified by taking the oath prescribed by law.

WORLD'S FAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the resolution under which the House is to act to-day.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That Thursday and Friday, February 20 and 21, after the approval of the Journal, be set aside for general debate on bills H. R. 6883 and 6884, and that the vote be taken on Monday, February 24, in the manner prescribed by the resolution submitted with the committee's report, unless the House shall have determined by vote that a world's fair shall not be held.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will now report the second resolution, being the resolution contained in the report of the Select Committee on the World's Fair.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That on the day following the close of the debate upon the bills reported by this committee, immediately after the reading of the Journal, the Clerk shall call the roll of members, and that as each member's name is called he shall indicate, viva voce, his choice of the place for holding the world's fair of 1892. If no place receives a majority of the votes cast on the first ballot, the roll-call shall be repeated until some one place shall have received a majority of all the votes cast.

Mr. BLOUNT. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. BLOUNT. I wish to ask the gentleman in charge of this matter whether it is the purpose of the committee to give the House an opportunity to vote upon the question whether there shall be a world's fair or not.

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not think it is in the power of the committee to do that, the House having passed upon the question.

Mr. BLOUNT. There were two resolutions agreed to by the House, one of them contemplating the contingency that the House might determine not to have a world's fair at all.

The SPEAKER. But the House has not so determined.

Mr. BLOUNT. That is true; but the House has had no opportunity to vote upon the question at all.

The SPEAKER. Very true.

Mr. BLOUNT. Does the Chair hold it is not possible for us to take a vote upon that question?

The SPEAKER. The Chair thinks so. The Chair thinks the situation is apparent. The Clerk will now call the roll and each member, as his name is called, will respond, giving the name of the city which is his choice as the place for holding the fair.

Mr. ABBOTT. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will call the roll.

The roll was called, and each member responding indicated his choice, as follows:

The SPEAKER. The Chair thinks it will conduce to accuracy to have the names recapitulated.

The Clerk read the names. Mr. WIKE. Mr. Speaker, my colleague Mr. WILLIAMS is detained at home by sickness. If present he would vote for St. Louis.

Mr. BREWER. My colleague Mr. BLISS is paired with the gentleman from California [Mr. BIGGS]. If present he would vote for Chicago.

PROPOSED WORLD'S FAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will proceed with the roll-call.

Mr. ROGERS. I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ROGERS. Inasmuch as no public business is transacted of which the House has any knowledge, except the receipt of reports of bills passed by the Senate and messages from the President, I make the point of order that in future we should have such order on the floor that we may know at least what is being reported to the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has doubtless witnessed the somewhat vigorous efforts of the Chair to preserve order. [Laughter.]

Mr. ROGERS. We have had about forty bills presented a moment ago, and not a word could be heard on the floor as to what they were; and there is also a message from the President, the substance of which the House can have no knowledge, owing to the confusion. I hope that some order will be preserved, so that we may know what we are doing.

The SPEAKER. The Chair trusts the House will listen to the appeal of the gentleman from Arkansas and be in order. [Laughter.]

The Clerk will proceed with the call of the roll.

The roll was again called with the following results:

Mr. STOCKDALE (after the roll was called). Mr. Speaker, I desire to record my vote.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman from Mississippi in his seat listening for his name?

Mr. STOCKDALE. I was not in my seat but I was right by it. There was so much noise I could not hear my name called.

The SPEAKER. The rule is peremptory that the Chair shall not recognize a request for unanimous consent to record a vote after the roll is called.

Mr. STOCKDALE. Well, I don't know what we are to do sitting back there. We can not hear.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has used every effort to preserve order on the floor.

Mr. STOCKDALE. I do not know of anybody else who can preserve order on the floor if the Chair can not.

The SPEAKER. It is a misfortune of the House that it will not preserve order on the floor. The Chair has done all that was in his power, but will continue to endeavor to preserve order during the call of the roll.

Before announcing the result of the vote last taken the Chair ventures to express the hope that hereafter during this voting the House may maintain such order that gentlemen may be enabled to hear their names called, and also that the Clerk may be enabled to hear the response of the members and record their names properly.

On this vote the whole number cast was 306, of which the majority would be 154. Of this number Chicago has received 134, New York 95, St. Louis 48, and Washington 29. No place having received a majority of all the votes cast, the Clerk will call the roll.

The roll was again called, and the vote was as follows:

The following additional pair was announced: Mr. DINGLEY with Mr. WILLIAMS, of Illinois, on this vote. Mr. DINGLEY would vote for New York and Mr. WILLIAMS, of Illinois, for Chicago.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the vote recapitulated; there has been so much confusion in the Hall.

The SPEAKER. It can be done if the gentleman desires it. It was omitted simply to save the Clerk.

Mr. HATCH. I would not ask for it except from the fact that there has been so much confusion in the Hall.

The vote was recapitulated. Mr. McMILLIN. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. McMILLIN. Some gentlemen around me are in doubt as to how my vote was recorded, and I was unable to hear when the recapitulation was made.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is recorded as voting for New York. The whole number of votes are 312, of which a majority would be 157. Chicago has received 149, New York 115, St. Louis 28, and Washington 19. No place having received a majority of the votes cast the Clerk will call the roll.

Mr. STONE, of Missouri. I move that the House adjourn.

Mr. WILSON, of West Virginia. I move that the House take a recess until to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. HOPKINS. Mr. Speaker—

The question was put and the Speaker announced that the noes seemed to have it.

Cries of "Division!"

Mr. MASON. The point of order has been made that the roll-call had begun.

Mr. SPRINGER. I rise to a question of order.

Mr. HOPKINS. I raised the point of order—

Mr. McADOO. Regular order. The SPEAKER. What was the point the gentleman from Illinois made?

Mr. HOPKINS. I raise the point of order against this motion that the roll-call had been commenced before the motion was made. [Cries of "Oh, no!" on the Democratic side.]

The SPEAKER. The Chair heard the gentleman from West Virginia address the Chair before the gentleman from Illinois.

Mr. ALLEN, of Michigan. What does anybody want a recess for? The SPEAKER. The House must decide this question.

Mr. CUTCHEON. I say that it is a dilatory motion and not in order. Cries of "Yeas and nays!"

The yeas and nays were ordered. The question was taken; and it was decided in the negative—yeas 138, nays 173, not voting 18; as follows:

[Copy senate bill No. 129.]

A memorial to Congress praying for the opening to settlement, under the homestead laws, that part of the Fort Randall military reservation in Charles Mix County, South Dakota, lying east of the Missouri River.

To the Congress of the United States:

Your memorialists, the Legislature of the State of South Dakota, would respectfully request that you take the necessary steps to open to settlement, under the homestead act, that part of the Fort Randall military reservation lying east of the Missouri River: Provided, That all bona fide settlers upon said lands who made settlement thereon prior to the approval of this act shall have preference over later entries.

We would represent that said part of said reservation embraces about one Congressional township, that said part of said reservation is covered with settlers, and that those who have settled thereon since January 1, 1864, have no title to their land and can not get a filing until relieved by act of Congress.

The secretary of state is hereby directed to transmit certified copies of the memorial to the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Interior, and to the Senators and Representatives of the State of South Dakota in Congress.

Approved February 5, 1890.

A. C. MELLETT, Governor.

Bossing and other citizens of Philadelphia, Pa., praying that the Superintendent of Census be directed to collect certain data in relation to the electrical industry; which was referred to the Committee on the Census.

Mr. MITCHELL. I present the petition of Edward Hughes, of Oregon, late of Company C, Fifth United States Infantry, and prior to that time of Company D, Thirty-eighth Illinois Volunteers, praying that the charge of desertion standing against him on the rolls of the Adjutant-General's Office be removed.

I ask unanimous consent to make a brief statement, not exceeding three or four minutes, in relation to this case.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the request made by the Senator from Oregon? The Chair hears none, and the Senator from Oregon will proceed.

Mr. MITCHELL. It appears from the petition of this person, the petition being sworn to, that he enlisted August 17, 1861, as a private in Company D, Thirty-eighth Illinois Infantry, at Palestine, Crawford County, Illinois; that he participated with his command in the campaigns and battles in which it served, as follows: At Fredericktown, Mo.; thence to Pilot Knob; thence to Jacksonport, Ark.; thence to Shiloh, Tenn.; thence to Corinth, Miss.; thence to Boonville; thence to Ripley, Jay Center, Iuka, and Louisville, Ky.; at the battle of Perryville, at Crab Orchard, Nashville, at the battle of Nolensville, continuing the fight to Stone River, where he was under General J. C. Davis on the right wing of the army. The petitioner goes on to say that, being unsupported by General Johnston, who held the extreme right, General Davis was compelled to give way, being captured by overwhelming numbers.

The petitioner, with many others, was captured and paroled on the field by General Wheeler, of the Confederate forces; was sent to Duck River, and thence to St. Louis, September, 1863. He reported at Bridgeport, Ala., for duty, and re-enlisted January 3, 1864, in the United States forces as veteran volunteer in Company D, Thirty-eighth Illinois Volunteer Infantry. After serving a considerable time he was, on the night of the 15th or 18th of June, captured by the Confederate forces and imprisoned at Andersonville, where he was assigned to the seventh detachment of the Third Ninety, where, to use his own language, "I was confined for about two months, and I found a number of my company, previously captured, very sick with different diseases. I did all I could till death relieved them from their suffering one by one. Soon I became a sufferer from starvation, cruelty, brutality, etc.; being knocked down with the butt of a musket while gathering wood to burn, receiving forty lashes for drawing two rations, my sick partner having died the day previous."

Then he goes on to state the horrors of that "tomb," as he calls it. About the end of August, 1864, sick and weak, he was sent to Savannah, Ga., where thirteen or fourteen thousand Union prisoners were corralled. Densely packed as they were, mortality tried to equal the brutality of the commandant, Davis. His physical and mental conditions, he states, were in sympathy, both getting very feeble. He was detained there some two months in all.

He was then sent to Millan prison, Georgia, and finally a proffer was made to him and others who were in sick, feeble, and dying condition, if they would enlist in the rebel army they would be discharged. He says he made up his mind to enlist with the determination to desert the first opportunity.

He did enlist in the rebel forces, and without firing a shot, and at the very first opportunity presented, which was very soon afterwards, he deserted the rebel forces, returned to the Union lines, and immediately, or as soon as he could thereafter, he re-enlisted again, served honorably, and was discharged at the end of the war. He received his pay for the time he served in the army prior to the time he was captured.

For some reason or other, it now seems the charge of desertion stands against the petitioner on the records of the War Department. He claims that he has made a full and faithful statement in the petition of his service, of all he did, and I have made this statement, with the consent
