By Mr. GOSAR:

H.R. 1150.

Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8, Clause 3. "The Congress shall have Power * * * To regulate Commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian Tribes." Further, pursuant to the Supreme Court ruling in United States v. South-Eastern Underwriters Association, 322 U.S. 533, 552-53 (U.S. 1944), insurance is constitutionally subject to Congressional regulation. As set forth by the Court:

Our basic responsibility in interpreting the Commerce Clause is to make certain that the power to govern intercourse among the states remains where the Constitution placed it. That power, as held by this Court from the beginning, is vested in the Congress, available to be exercised for the national welfare as Congress shall deem necessary. No commercial enterprise of any kind which conducts its activities across state lines has been held to be wholly beyond the regulatory power of Congress under the Commerce Clause. We cannot make an exception of the business of insurance.

Speaking directly on the power of Congress to regulate insurance, or to exempt the insurance industry from monopolistic practices under the Sherman Act, the Court explained:

Whether competition is a good thing for the insurance business is not for us to consider. Having power to enact the Sherman Act, Congress did so; if exceptions are to be written into the Act, they must come from the Congress, not this Court.

United States v. South-Eastern Underwriters Association, 322 U.S. 533, 561 (U.S. 1944). This bill eliminates the exemption created by Congress, under powers expressly enumerated in the Constitution. As for the proscription on class action suits based on antitrust legal theories against insurers, the Constitution does not guarantee the right to a class action lawsuit. Rather, individuals are simply guaranteed an individual jury trial under the Seventh Amendment. There is no collective right to a civil legal remedy. This act preserves private rights of action brought by aggrieved individuals and therefore comports with the Seventh Amendment and maintains enforcement of the public goals by the appropriate public entities, the states or the federal government.

That the Interstate Commerce Clause has been construed to grant Congress the power to regulate unfair or anticompetitive business practices that harm interstate commerce, was recently commented upon by the U.S. Supreme Court in Gonzales v. Raich, 545 U.S. 1 (2005):

The Commerce Clause emerged as the Framers' response to the central problem giving rise to the Constitution itself: the absence of any federal commerce power under the Articles of Confederation. For the first century of our history, the primary use of the Clause was to preclude the kind of discriminatory state legislation that had once been permissible. Then, in response to rapid industrial
