

our Nation from any potential attacks on U.S. soil. It is also the only binational command in the world's existence between Canada and the United States.

During his tenure there, Admiral Gortney redefined the mission for USNORTHCOM's future, furthering the bonds that have secured the skies above the homelands for 60 years. He built a personal trust critical to the strength of the alliance with our partners in Canada, Mexico, and the Bahamas and was able to expand the traditional bounds of security cooperation. He increased military-to-military training and interaction. Within the homeland, Admiral Gortney's keen intuition led to a deliberate campaign plan to protect the United States forces from the threat of homegrown violent extremists. He led the Department of Defense planning to support lead Federal agencies to minimize the threat of both the Ebola and Zika viruses.

Throughout his career, Admiral Gortney's message of empowerment and his relentless desire to seek creative solutions to the commands' challenges has served as an example to all during his lifetime exemplary of military service. I join with the members of the Senate Armed Services Committee in expressing my respect and gratitude to Admiral Gortney for his outstanding service to our Nation. I offer heartfelt thanks to Bill; his wife, Sherry; their children, Stephanie and Billy; daughter-in-law, Jackie; and grandchildren, Gavin and Grayson. Congratulations to all on Bill's retirement from the U.S. Navy after a lifetime of dedicated service. To Bill, trusted leader and dedicated patriot, fair winds and following seas.

90TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE TRIANGLE X RANCH

Mr. ENZI. Mr. President, I appreciate having this opportunity to share some news with the Senate about a very important anniversary we are celebrating in my home State. This is the year the Triangle X Ranch, one of our State's great attractions, is marking its 90th year of operation.

As you can imagine, the Triangle X has quite a story to tell of those 90 years. It began in the early 1900s when a visitor fell in love with an especially beautiful area of Wyoming. It continues to this day, its 90th year, cared for over the years by five generations of the Turner family.

The people of my home State have a great fondness and appreciation for the Triangle X because it reminds us of our Western heritage and our love of the land and all it provides. It reminds us of our growth as a State and what it was like to live in Wyoming back in those days.

The Triangle X Ranch Web site tells the story of the ranch. It begins, back in the early 1900s, when John and Maytie Turner liked to take "fun vacations," as they called them, to Yellowstone National Park. It was during one of those visits they had a chance to see an area around Jackson Hole for the first time. It was one of those story-book encounters—or to put it another way: love at first sight.

Life was a lot tougher back then, so when they decided to make the area their home, they had to bring their sons back with them to get things started. It took a tremendous effort to build their home so they would have a place to stay. Even today, it is hard to imagine what an effort it took for them to live what had become their dream.

For starters, they had to bring the logs from some felled trees to their home site so they could build the basement of what would become their home. Once that was done, they had a place where they could live while they built the rest of their house.

Everything was difficult. Providing for the essentials they needed took planning and some time. Just taking a trip to the nearest town took several days. They had to grow or produce their own food, and while they were at it, they had to come up with ways of making something of a living.

This paragraph from the history section of their Web site says a lot about what their life was like back then for them and for many of those who had left the comforts of home and traded them for the great freedom and excitement of Wyoming and the West: "Because there was no electricity, wood supplied heat and kerosene lamps brought light to interiors. Refrigeration was provided by large chunks of ice that had been cut from nearby beaver ponds in the winter and stored in piles of sawdust to keep through the summer. A fresh meat supply was provided by the Turners' cattle herd, chickens and big game harvested in the fall. Surprisingly, most of these methods of supply continued through the 1940s."

The next generation saw more changes to the ranch. It was now a dude ranch. Their Web site describes how it became an "authorized concession of the National Park Service—the last dude ranch concession within the entire National Park system."

Today, a fifth generation of the Turner family is working the ranch and greeting guests, both new and returning friends, the lifestyle their family has loved for all these years. As each guest comes to the Triangle X, they receive the kind of education you just can't get from watching a movie or reading a book. You are immersed in a lifestyle that provides you with a front row seat to what life was like in the days of the old West.

As you can tell, I enjoy talking about the people of Wyoming, our businesses, and our unique brand of hospitality. I can't encourage you strongly enough to come to Wyoming and get a taste of what life was like back in the days when the West was the best part of our national heritage—and you will see that it still is. When you come to my home State, you might stop by the Triangle X and then explore some more of Wyoming and the West.

Our homegrown businesses are one of the special things about Wyoming. Together, they form the backbone of Wyoming's economy and they keep us headed in the right direction. They are the strength of Wyoming and the West, and they are one of the reasons why people keep flocking to Jackson and the other cities and towns of Wyoming.

I will close by once again congratulating all those who are a part of the Triangle X story. They have made a difference in our State and in the lives of all those who come to visit. I would also like to invite my colleagues to come and see my home State. You can't beat our scenic beauty, hospitality, and our history and legacy as a State. I can promise you that you will have an adventure in Wyoming that you will remember for a long time to come.

Thank you.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

PEASE GREETERS' 1000TH FLIGHT

• Ms. AYOTTE. Mr. President, today I wish to recognize and congratulate the Pease Greeters' nonprofit organization for more than 11 years of continuous service in greeting our troops and civilian personnel from the Department of Defense, DOD, passing through the Pease International Trade Port in Portsmouth, NH. In June of 2016, they will have welcomed more than 1,000 flights passing through the trade port on their way to or from Afghanistan, Iraq, or other areas of conflict in the world.

The Pease Greeters organization was created in May of 2005 when an unannounced plane carrying members of the U.S. military landed at the Pease International Airport. The airport director, maintenance manager, and airport employees quickly got together to meet and greet these troops, offering coffee, donuts, and a big thank you for their service. Soon thereafter, the airport director discovered that additional charter flights would be arriving at Pease. Upon learning this, he reached out to the Seacoast Marine Corps League for assistance welcoming the troops and putting together a fitting ceremony to show respect, appreciation, and honor for their service.

Once word spread, dozens of citizens from New Hampshire, Maine, and Massachusetts, lent their support to organize what quickly became known as the Pease Greeters, whose mission is to promote broad participation in this welcoming of heroes, paying special attention to the education of school children by instilling respect and admiration for the troops through formal ceremonies for each flight. Whether it is 4 a.m. in the morning or 4 p.m. in the afternoon, the Pease Greeters are there to welcome and thank the members of the military and the civilian men and women working in the DOD coming through Pease. As of May 2016, the Pease Greeters have met more than 190,000 servicemen and servicewomen at the trade port, provided a bank of phones where they can call loved ones anywhere in the world free of charge, offered them more than 27,000 pizzas, 167,000 sandwiches, 110,000 bottles of water or soda, and 74,000 knitted hats.

As the Pease Greeters welcomes its 1,000th flight on June 26, 2016, I commend the board of directors, the many volunteers, the supporting businesses, the Pease International Airport director and staff, and the hundreds of well-wishers who have spent more than 11 years thanking and honoring our troops and DOD members for their service and selfless sacrifice to our Nation. As the Pease Greeters' mission continues, I have no doubt they will continue to provide comfort and welcome many future military members arriving or departing from the Pease International Trade Port.●

40TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE MEMORIAL TOURNAMENT

● Mr. PORTMAN. Mr. President, today I wish to recognize the 40th anniversary of the first playing of the Memorial Tournament, "the Memorial", at Muirfield Village Golf Club in Dublin, OH. Jack Nicklaus, a golf legend and Congressional Gold Medal recipient, founded the Memorial in 1976. Jack wanted to bring an annual PGA tour event to Central Ohio and named the tournament "the Memorial" to recognize a person or persons, living or deceased, who have contributed to the game of golf with honor.

The Memorial has been a significant benefit to charitable organizations. For example, Nationwide Children's Hospital in Columbus, OH, has received over $14 million from the Memorial. In honor of that support, the hospital renamed its neonatal intensive care unit, NICU, as the Memorial NICU in 2006. The Memorial has also helped other organizations, such as the James Cancer Hospital and Solove Research Institute, the First Tee of Central Ohio, Shriners, and many more. The Memorial provides a significant economic development impact to the central Ohio region with an estimated $35 million annually toward the economy.

I am honored to have attended the Memorial to see firsthand its impact in the community. I would like to congratulate all who were involved in making the first 40 years of the Memorial a success.●

RECOGNIZING ALABAMA'S SPECIAL CAMP FOR CHILDREN AND ADULTS

● Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, today I wish to recognize the 40th anniversary of Alabama's Special Camp for Children and Adults, a nationally recognized leader in therapeutic recreation for children and adults with both physical and intellectual disabilities.

Also known as Camp ASCCA, the organization was founded in 1976 with the goal of helping eligible individuals achieve equality, dignity, and maximum independence. Camp ASCCA is the only one of its kind in the State of Alabama and hosts between 6,000 and 8,000 people each year, all varying in age. On the shores of Lake Martin, the camp offers 230 wooded acres and handicapable facilities. The camp strives to increase the level of individuality and confidence of its guests, and that impact lasts long after the camp session ends.

Camp ASCCA maintains a trained staff dedicated to accommodating the needs of its visitors. The mission statement of ASCCA is to serve those who can derive maximum benefit from the resident camp experience and provide a healthier, happier, longer, and more productive life for children and adults of all abilities.

On August 6, 2016, ASCCA will be celebrating its 40th anniversary.

Please join me in recognizing Alabama's Special Camp for Children and Adults for its long-term commitment to creating an enjoyable atmosphere for those guests who attend.●

REMEMBERING MARLIN MOORE

● Mr. SHELBY. Mr. President, today I wish to honor the life of my friend Marlin Moore of Tuscaloosa, AL, who passed away on May 25, 2016. He will be long remembered as an accomplished businessman and a civic leader.

A native of Tuscaloosa, Marlin attended Tuscaloosa High School and then went on to become a student at the University of Alabama's School of Commerce. Following graduation, he joined the firm of Pritchett-Moore, Inc., where he worked under its founders, Marlin Moore, Sr., and Harry H. Pritchett.

Marlin eventually became president and then chairman of Pritchett-Moore. Not only did he develop 43 subdivisions during his time with Pritchett-Moore, but he was involved with the Realtors Association both on the State and national level. Marlin served two terms as president of the Tuscaloosa Association of Realtors, president of the Alabama Association of Realtors, and served as a board member of the National Association of Realtors for 11 years. For his contributions to the real estate community, he received the Alabama Realtor of the Year Award and was named a member of the Home Builders Association of Tuscaloosa Hall of Fame.

In addition to his interest and work in real estate, Marlin was also a founder of Security Bank, where he served as its chairman. He served as a board member of First National Bank and AmSouth Bank, and he served two terms on the board of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta.

In addition to his professional contributions to west Alabama, Marlin worked with several philanthropic organizations such as the United Way of West Alabama, West Alabama Chamber of Commerce, Red Cross, Exchange Club, the Boy Scout Council, the West Alabama Community Foundation, and the University of Alabama and the Crimson Tide Track Program. In 2008, he was inducted into the Pillars of West Alabama for his dedicated efforts and service to the area.

The city of Tuscaloosa and the State of Alabama was fortunate to have a great businessman and civic leader like Marlin Moore, and he will be sorely missed. I offer my deepest condolences to his wife, Laine, and their children as they celebrate his life and mourn his loss.●
