MOMENT OF SILENCE FOR STATE TROOPER JACQUES ROUGEAU, JR., AND A PRAYER FOR A FULL RECOVERY FOR LT. JAMES WAGNER

(Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, we gather today to remember the life of a Pennsylvania State Trooper, Jacques Rougeau who was killed in the line of duty on June 17 while serving at the Juniata County Barracks in Pennsylvania's 13th Congressional District.

Trooper Rougeau leaves behind a loving wife, Chloe, and all of our hearts go out to her, along with the rest of his family, his friends, and the entire Pennsylvania State Troopers.

At this time, I ask that we also recognize Lieutenant Jim Wagner who was injured in the line of duty on that same terrible day and remains hospitalized.

Please join me in a moment of silence to honor the life of State Trooper Jacques Rougeau and in prayer for the full recovery of Lieutenant Jim Wagner.

CONGRATULATING CONGRESSIONAL ART WINNER ALMA SWARTZENTRUBER

(Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Pennsylvania's 15th Congressional District 2023 Congressional Art Competition winner, Alma Swartzentruber.

The annual art competition, organized by the Congressional Institute, showcases the artwork of high school students from across every congressional district in the country. Alma is a recent graduate from the Keystone High School in Clarion County. Her winning artwork is titled, “Great Horned Owl.” She created this piece with charcoal and graphite.

Alma's work was selected by an independent panel of judges from 73 entries, with a record number of participants in the 15th District's Congressional Art Competition.

I would also like to congratulate Alma's teacher, Ms. Janet Hockman, and her parents for the role that they played in Alma's success.

All of the winning pieces will be displayed for the year in the Cannon tunnel, where they will be viewed by Members of Congress, staff, and many visitors to the Capitol each and every day.

Mr. Speaker, I congratulate Alma on her great work. I am proud to have her artwork representing the 15th District.

PROTECTING THE LIMBS AND LIVES OF AMERICANS NATION-WIDE

(Mr. PAYNE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to discuss my bill, the Amputation Reduction and Compassion Act, or ARC, and how it will protect Americans from Peripheral Artery Disease, or PAD, from unnecessary amputations.

PAD is a disease of the arteries that can cause blockages in arms and legs and lead to unnecessary amputations. There are 200,000 PAD patients at risk of an amputation every year, and African Americans are three times more likely to need one from PAD than any other American.

My ARC Act would change that. It requires Medicare and Medicaid to cover screenings for Americans with a high risk for getting PAD. It establishes a PAD education program at the Department of Health and Human Services to create more awareness of PAD symptoms. It requires HHS to reduce the number of unnecessary amputations from PAD.

My bill will protect the limbs and lives of Americans nationwide, and I am proud to introduce it this week. I ask my colleagues to please join the PAD Caucus along with me.

RECOGNIZING JUDE STAMPER, A REMARKABLE YOUNG MAN

(Mr. WALBERG asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. WALBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to recognize a remarkable young man from the Fifth District of Michigan, Jude Stamper.

While completing his Eagle Scout leadership project, Jude sought to raise funds to help purchase a new van for a local shelter. He organized, emceed, and played in a fundraiser with the Monroe High jazz band that far surpassed his initial goal.

Jude has a rare condition called AMC which makes movement difficult, but Jude doesn't slow down. In 2018, then-Michigan basketball coach John Beilein recognized Jude's infectious attitude, valuable perspective, and unparalleled energy. Beilein had him join the team, and stars like Moe Wagner and Duncan Robinson credited Jude's spirit for helping propel the team to the national championship game.

Mr. Speaker, we are grateful for Jude's contributions, and we look forward to what he takes on next.

CELEBRATING PRIDE MONTH IN PENNSYLVANIA'S 17TH DISTRICT

(Mr. DELUZIO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DELUZIO. Mr. Speaker, June is Pride Month, a month that celebrates the contributions and importance of the LGBTQ+ community all over the country and in Pennsylvania's 17th District.

My home borough of Aspinwall hosted Pride in the Park, a festival to connect and celebrate the community with history walks, community resources, art, music, and a vendor fair of local LGBTQ-owned small businesses.

Pride is celebrated all across western Pennsylvania, from a Pride-themed Roller Derby bout in Cheswick, to festivals in Dormont and Mt. Lebanon. There is also Prom in Millvale, online writing groups for seniors, a parade and music in Swissvale, and lots more.

It is a busy month for our community and one that centers around freedom at its core. It also remembers those who fought tirelessly for equal rights and those hurt by discrimination or lost to senseless hatred and violence.

America was founded under the ideals of liberty and justice, not censorship, discrimination, or control. All people shall have the freedom to love who they love, to be who they are, to be accepted, to feel safe, and to be treated equally under the law.

On behalf of the good people of western Pennsylvania, I will keep fighting for these freedoms here in Washington.

DISASTER IN TEXAS PANHANDLE

(Mr. JACKSON of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. JACKSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, unfortunately, multiple disasters have struck Texas-13 over the last month, from devastating floods in May to a series of deadly tornadoes in the last week, first in Perryton and later in Matador and Afton.

While we continue to assess the most recent damage, we already know that hundreds of homes, businesses, and properties were destroyed. Many of my constituents were injured, and tragically, lives were lost.

Despite the wreckage, my constituents, assisted by their community, local officials, and volunteers from across the State, came together to provide water, food, fuel, and so much more to their neighbors in need.

The Federal Government must act to do everything it can to bring the needed aid to the Texas Panhandle and help expedite the recovery and cleanup efforts.

For too long, the Federal Government has forgotten about rural America. We cannot let this happen here. It may take months to rebuild, but I know we will do it thanks to the steadfast spirit of the Texans I represent.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to represent the brave people of the Texas Panhandle, and I ask that you please join me in praying for them at this time.

HONORING THE LIFE OF MIKE WILLIAMS

(Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, with a heavy heart, I rise to honor the remarkable life of recently departed Florida AFL-CIO President Mike Williams.

Starting as an apprentice, he became an electrician, working temporary service and construction jobs and living paycheck to paycheck, like so many workers do.

Seeing the critical value of job protections and livable wages, he devoted his life to the labor movement, first as a rank-and-file member for 15 years before becoming business manager of his local, IBEW 177.

Later, he became president of the Florida Building Trades Council, and in 2009, Mike was elected president of the Florida AFL-CIO, where he served distinctively until his death.

A natural-born leader, Mike revitalized Florida labor by fostering new alliances with community, immigrant, and faith-based groups.

Tall and with a contagious smile, he was a straight-shooter and always brought a worthy cause and compelling case for workers to the Capitol.

Direct and trustworthy, he was a man of standards whose shoes will be hard to fill.

Mike's empathy, dedication, and compassion will be sorely missed, but his legacy and impact must never be forgotten.

I will miss my dear friend. May his memory be for a blessing.

REMEMBERING JERRY LEWIS CLARK

(Mr. CARTER of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in memory of Jerry Lewis Clark, also known as Red Dog.

Mr. Clark was born on March 31, 1943, in Savannah, Georgia, where he began his life of service to others. He served for 25 years in the military as an Army combat medic in Vietnam and in the Georgia Air National Guard. He was a Purple Heart recipient for his heroics during the Vietnam war, and he retired from the military as a senior master sergeant.

Outside of his military service, Mr. Clark was a computer programmer, an English teacher, a medical salesman, and a homebuilder. He also worked as the minister of activity and director of operations at Calvary Baptist Temple.

Mr. Clark's record shows what he truly was. He was a patriot. He was a public servant. He truly had a servant's heart.

Mr. Clark is a hero who will be greatly missed by his community and by his friends and his family.
