The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

ADJOURNMENT FROM FRIDAY, JANUARY 12, 2024, TO TUESDAY, JANUARY 16, 2024

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the House adjourns today, it adjourn to meet at noon on Tuesday next for morning-hour debate and 2 p.m. for legislative business.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BURLISON). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Pennsylvania?

There was no objection.

PENNSYLVANIA FARM SHOW

(Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, over the weekend, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania kicked off one of my favorite events: The Pennsylvania Farm Show.

For more than a century, farmers have gathered each January at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

This weeklong event is the largest indoor agricultural exposition in the Nation, showcasing more than 6,000 animals, nearly 12,000 exhibits, and more than half a million visits.

Each year, I host a listening session at the farm show, and we cover a range of topics during the public forum.

This year, I held my listening session on January 6, the same day the farm show kicked off. I was joined by my fellow Pennsylvania Congressman, DAN MEUSER, and Pennsylvania Agriculture Secretary, Russell Redding.

Mr. Speaker, I thank them both for being there as we heard directly from Pennsylvania's farmers and producers.

I have been hosting this listening session as the Representative for Pennsylvania's 15th Congressional District for 14 years. Like every year, I look forward to hearing directly from the backbone of our Nation, the hard-working men and women of American agriculture.

QUESTIONING REPUBLICAN COMMITMENT TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

(Mr. PAYNE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to question the Republican commitment to the American people.

They prefer to waste taxpayer dollars attacking hardworking, patriotic American civil servants and fail to address the issues facing our country.

In 7 days, government funding will run out.

Republicans should be working with Democrats to continue funding vital programs to help working Americans. They should be discussing how to protect Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid, how to support our allies of Ukraine and Israel, how to help the Palestinian families caught in the crossfire of the deadly conflict in Gaza, and how to provide the cleanest air and water possible for the American people.

Instead, they are too busy pandering for social media clicks with political stunts and continue to do absolutely nothing to help the American people.

I hope they know the voters are watching, and they will remember their inaction in November.

RECOGNIZING RYAN PASBORG

(Ms. HAGEMAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. HAGEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Ryan Pasborg, a truly remarkable Wyomingite, whose exceptional character and heroic actions left a profound impression on both the community and the State of Wyoming.

The morning of February 2, 2022, began like any other for Ryan as he went about his daily commute to work. During his drive, he began to smell smoke, witnessed flames, and noticed three young children escaping from a burning home.

Ryan immediately stopped, and after speaking with the children, learned that their mother and younger brother were still inside the House. Without hesitation, and at great risk to himself, Ryan rushed into the burning home and managed to rescue both their younger brother and mother for whom he later administered CPR—all while on the phone with 911.

No lives were lost that day due to Ryan's selfless actions and unparalleled courage.

Upon being nominated, he was later rightfully awarded the Carnegie Medal, North America's highest civilian honor for heroism.

While Ryan's extraordinary actions that day will be remembered for generations, the courage, compassion, and integrity he exhibited are simply a part of who he is each and every day.

I urge all my colleagues to join me in recognizing Mr. Ryan Pasborg for his valor and commitment to the safety of his fellow Wyomingites.

HONORING DR. JOHN LOUIS FLATEAU

(Ms. CLARKE of New York asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. CLARKE of New York. Mr. Speaker, I rise on this day to celebrate the extraordinary life of my dear brother and friend, Dr. John Louis Flateau, who was laid to rest this past Wednesday.

Dr. Flateau, a beloved scholar and public servant, dedicated his life to championing justice, equality, public service, and political empowerment.

His contributions spanned politics, education, and advocacy, leaving an indelible mark on Brooklyn, New York City, and New York State.

His legacy extends beyond the policies he championed. It lives on in the lives of many he touched. He was not merely a legislative force. He was a friend, confidant, and political mentor to so many, including both me and my mother, Dr. Una Clarke.

He had a profound impact on the lives of so many, from his tenure as a Medgar Evers College professor to his work in advancing voting rights.

As we reflect on Dr. Flateau's life, let us remember the countless stories of those who found hope and empowerment through his advocacy.

In his absence, we must continue to carry the torch that he lit to ensure that his vision continues to manifest itself.

Though Dr. Flateau may no longer be physically with us, the impact he made will echo on from generation to generation to come.

He is now with the ancestors, and he will be dearly and deeply missed.

HOUSE REPUBLICANS COMMITTED TO SECURING BORDER

(Mr. FULCHER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FULCHER. Mr. Speaker, how many more innocent lives need to be lost before Secretary Mayorkas and President Biden realize that securing our border is more than an immigration issue? It is a fundamental duty we owe to the American people.

Since President Biden took office, over 7 million encounters have taken place on our southern border, and that number continues to climb at an unsettling rate, with roughly 10,000 additional crossings each day.
