Ms. CLARK of Massachusetts and Mr. DOGGETT changed their vote from “nay” to “yea.”

So the bill was passed.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Stated for:

Mr. GOLDMAN of New York. Madam Speaker, due to travel delays, I was not able to be present to vote on the passage of H.R. 8932, the FAFSA Deadline Act. Had I been present, I would have voted YEA on Roll Call No. 465.

Mr. GOTTHEIMER. Madam Speaker, I missed the following vote, but had I been present, I would have voted YEA on Roll Call No. 465.

Ms. LEE of Nevada. Madam Speaker, my vote was not recorded today. Had it been recorded, I would have voted YEA on Roll Call No. 465.

Mr. SCHIFF. Madam Speaker, had I been present, I would have voted YEA on Roll Call No. 465.

Ms. TENNEY. Madam Speaker, had I been present, I would have voted YEA on Roll Call No. 465.

ADJOURNMENT FROM FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 2024, TO MONDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 2024

Mr. LUTTRELL. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the House adjourns today, it adjourn to meet on Monday next, when it shall convene at noon for morning-hour debate and 2 p.m. for legislative business.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mrs. BICE). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

LAYING ON THE TABLE H. RES. 1410

Mr. LUTTRELL. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that H. Res. 1410 be laid on the table.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

HONORING FLORA LEAMER'S LASTING LEGACY

(Mr. LANGWORTHY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LANGWORTHY. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of Flora Leamer, who was the heart and soul of Clarence, New York.

Flora was someone who always said yes when it came to helping a neighbor. Every community needs more people like Flora.

At local events, she was a familiar sight, often with a camera in hand or alongside her husband, John, riding side by side in parades decked out all in red, white, and blue.

Flora was tireless. She always went above and beyond in everything she did. From the Clarence Chamber of Commerce to the farmers market, from historical societies to Winterfest, Flora's involvement left a lasting mark on the community.

Her kindness, warmth, and boundless energy were a gift to Clarence, and she will be deeply missed by all who had the privilege to know her.

May this lasting legacy continue to inspire us all to be more like Flora.

HONORING THE LIFE OF KINSTON MAYOR BUDDY RITCH

(Mr. DAVIS of North Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DAVIS of North Carolina. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor the remarkable life of Buddy Ritch, a true servant-leader who was not only dedicated to serving our country but also the city of Kinston.

He was a veteran, entrepreneur, and champion for the city. Buddy's legacy began with service in the 82nd Airborne Division during the Korean war.

Upon returning, he transformed his entrepreneurial spirit into an engine for community betterment, establishing the Boys and Girls Club of Lenoir County, revitalizing downtown Kinston, and serving 16 years as mayor.

His leadership brought over 20 industries into our region, and Kinston earned the All-American City Award not once but twice.

Buddy's life reminds us that service is a calling.

To his family, we extend our deepest gratitude for sharing such an extraordinary man with us.

To the city of Kinston, may Buddy's legacy inspire generations.

CONGRATULATING RUTH HENDERSON MCQUEEN

(Mr. BURCHETT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BURCHETT. Madam Speaker, I congratulate Ms. Ruth Henderson McQueen for making it into the National 4-H Hall of Fame.

Ruth is a remarkable Tennessean who has dedicated her life to serving our communities, agriculture, and especially 4-H youth. Ruth started out in 4-H as a fifth grader in Loudon County. Back then, her family didn't even have indoor plumbing, much less a phone or a TV. Through 4-H, Ruth's world opened up.

Madam Speaker, over her 26-year career with UT Extension, Ruth accomplished a lot of firsts. She became the first female president of UT's agriculture honor society, Gamma Sigma Delta, and she organized events like Ag Day that bring our community together.

What is most special about Ruth is her dedication to people. She oversaw a program that welcomed over 850 Japanese students into Tennessee homes, where they learned about our culture and creating lifelong friendships, Madam Speaker.

Even after retirement in 2001, Ruth stayed active. She served on boards and mentored young adults. She is also very well spoken, unlike myself. She is very compassionate, and many people have said that she is the one to call when you need a speech, a mentor, or a listening ear.

Ruth's dedication and kindness have made our community a much better place. I thank her for all she has done. She deserves this honor.

HONORING THE LEGACY OF SANDY ISENBERG

(Ms. KAPTUR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. KAPTUR. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life and legacy of former Lucas County commissioner and a dear friend, Sandra "Sandy" Isenberg, a trailblazer in northwest Ohio and a shero for our community. Serving as commissioner for 17 years, Sandy was a fierce and dedicated public servant with good humor and a love of people. Her impact will be felt for generations.

She paved the way for women in government when there were few role models, and she held her ground with both strength and grace and with a fierce loyalty to our home county.

She fought tirelessly for the little gal and the little guy, bringing voice and dignity to all corners of our community.

Her relentless work brought help to thousands of people and transformative projects to our community, like Fifth Third Field, the home of the Toledo Mud Hens, a redevelopment beacon for downtown Toledo that she championed.

Personally, I will always remember her wise counsel and humor. She stood shoulder to shoulder with us in every fight that mattered for our working families. Truly, northwest Ohio has lost a true advocate, friend, and formidable force.

Madam Speaker, today, we remember Sandy Isenberg with gratitude, and our community must carry forward her legacy of courage, compassion, and unyielding service.

May our love and gratitude help heal her beloved family, her sister, Barbara; Barbara's husband, Alan; her sons, Michael and Dennis; and her grandchildren, Madison, Morgan, Max, and Maris.

For all of us, Sandy was a rock of strength. Her indomitable spirit accompanies us always.

HONORING RACHEL HARRIS

(Mrs. LESKO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mrs. LESKO. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize my chief of staff, Rachel Harris.

With my upcoming retirement, I think it is important to recognize the individuals who have supported me throughout my tenure in Congress, none more important than my staff.

Rachel joined my team as communications director in March of 2020 and has served as my chief of staff since October of 2021. Rachel is a hard worker who could always be relied upon to get things done. No matter the task, large or small, Rachel is ready to tackle it.

Originally from Russellville, Arkansas, Rachel has been committed to public service from an early age including volunteering on local political campaigns and even serving as an intern here in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Throughout her tenure, she has shown tremendous dedication to me, my staff, our constituents, the State of Arizona, and the Nation.

As I leave Congress and she leaves the House, I have no doubt she will do great things in all of her future endeavors.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Rachel for her service. I truly appreciate her.

COMMEMORATING BIPARTISAN INFRASTRUCTURE LAW

(Mr. CARBAJAL asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CARBAJAL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to commemorate the third anniversary of the bipartisan infrastructure law which has delivered over a billion dollars and 13,000 jobs in my district.

I see the way this legislation is helping out communities. That is why I am committed to protecting it in the next administration.

Either out of misguided priorities or merely out of revenge, I know there are Members in this Chamber who have expressed eagerness to dismantle these programs.

We have already been calling out people who voted "no" but still took the dough. Now we need to be ready to highlight how these efforts to undermine these laws would harm middle-class working families.

In my role in the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, I will work to protect our landmark achievements every single day. I will happily remind my colleagues who may suddenly embrace government spending, again, under President Trump, who is really to thank for the communities' improved quality of life.

HIGH-SPEED RAIL

(Mr. LAMALFA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAMALFA. Madam Speaker, California has had this boondoggle since 2008 known as high-speed rail. Now it might work good in other places—Europe, Japan, places like that. Given California's topography and the nature of the people there, they are not going to use it.

Then what do we have? What was approved back in 2008 by the voters was a project costing $33 billion, of which $9 billion would be done by bonds, and the rest would come from the private sector. The private sector stayed away in droves because it is a big money loser.

They have instead had to go to other methods of getting funding including cap and trade, which is taxing people basically on fuel. As you see, California fuel prices are going up more and more, a buck and a half a gallon, maybe two bucks a gallon by the time the next round of taxation hits drivers in California.

They still have ideas about coming back and getting more Federal money. In the so-called stimulus act of 2009,
